Wildcats Hope to Build Upon 1999 Success

ELLENSBURG - Central Washington was the most improved team in the PacWest Conference last fall more than tripling its number of victories on the way to a 16-16 record and a fourth-place finish in the West Division (6-10).

Mario Andaya, beginning his fifth season as head coach, hopes the Wildcats can build upon that success this fall and climb a few more notches in the conference standings.

With 10 of 13 letter winners back plus a strong recruiting class in the fold, that is a realistic goal. "We should be a much stronger team just based on our maturity and cohesiveness," Andaya said.

Andaya believes his team will be a lot better defensively, particularly at the net. Among the returning starters are middle blocker Kim Werkau (6-0, Jr., Sumner) and rightside hitter Cerena Laurance (6-0, So., Yakima - West Valley).

"Kim and Cerena will be among the top blockers in the West Division," Andaya said.

Last year, Werkau was credited with 65 blocks and Laurance had 53. They also ranked fourth and fifth, respectively, on the team in kills, averaging 2.32 and 2.20 per game.

Also back in the middle will be Stacey Schmitz (5-11, Sr., Montesano - GHCC), who had the third-best hitting percentage in the conference (.374) before missing the last half of the season with a knee injury. Her 0.91 blocks per game was the third best on the team behind Tanya Treischel, who is not returning, and Werkau (1.05).

Freshmen Gita Burke (6-0, Olympia - Black Hills) and Jacqueline Mills (6-0, Fr., Yelm) will help strengthen the middle. Burke is a tremendous leaper and will help us out at the net. Mills was an all-state player at Yelm before redshirting last season. "With our improvement in the middle, we should be able to limit teams to a lower (attack) percentage," Andaya said.

On the outside, the Wildcats return a trio of veterans, including PacWest second team all-star Katie Orgill (5-8, Jr., Yakima - Davis). Orgill led the team in kills (3.05 per game) and digs (365). Her 3.84 digs per game average ranked seventh in the conference.

Also back is Carolyn Mires (5-10, So., Walla Walla), who was a part-time starter in her freshman season, and two-year lettermen Ellie Fortin (5-8, Jr., Zillah). They'll be joined by recruit Julie Roberts (5-10, Fr., Lynden).

Mires ranked second on the team in kills, averaging 2.68 per game, and digs (3.27) in her rookie season. Fortin was also among the leaders in both categories, averaging 2.56 kills and 2.80 digs.

Roberts was an all-state player at Lynden and has the potential to play a lot in the front row. "She'll come in as one of our hardest hitters," Andaya said.

Directing the offense will setter Kari St. Martin (5-10, Sr., Yakima - Ike). Despite being bothered by a back injury which seemed better in the spring, Kari was still among the top setters in the conference, averaging 11.05 assists to earn second team West Division all-star honors. She was also productive at the net, ranking second on the team in blocks with 70 and from the service position where she ranked sixth in the conference with 47 aces.

Handling the defensive specialist position this fall will be letter winners Missy Augustin (5-8, So., Bremerton - Central Kitsap) and Alison Gargus (5-10, Jr., Yakima - West Valley). Adding strength to that position will be freshman Heidi Keck (5-8, Yakima - West Valley).

CWU will open its season with a pair of long road trips, first traveling to Los Angeles to compete in the Cal State Los Angeles Invitational, Aug. 25-26, before head north to Alaska to take part in the Alaska Anchorage Invitational Sept. 7-9. Then after a short trip to Lewiston for a non-conference game Sept. 12 against Lewis-Clark State, CWU will open its home and PacWest Conference campaigns Sept. 15 against Western Oregon at Nicholson Pavilion.

Coaching Staff

MARIO ANDAYA

Head Coach (5th year, 49-69)

Mario Andaya begins his fifth year as Central Washington University head volleyball coach this fall.

The 29-year-old Andaya has compiled a record of 49-69, including a 16-16 record last season, in his first four seasons. CWU was the most improved team in the PacWest Conference a year ago, more than tripling its win total.

Andaya, a 1993 CWU graduate, was a varsity assistant to Dr. John Pearson for two seasons prior to taking over as head coach.

Andaya first joined CWU's coaching staff in the fall of 1993 and was the junior varsity head coach for two years compiling a won-loss record of 32-10.

He also served as the head coach for Ellensburg's USVBA high school age squad for four seasons.

Andaya, who earned a bachelor of science degree in business management from CWU, is a native of Los Angeles, Calif. He graduated from Bothell High School in 1989 where he competed in track-and-field and football.

He then earned four letters in track-and-field at CWU. In 1992, he placed third in the NAIA District 1 meet in the long jump and competed at nationals. He placed seventh in the district meet in 1993.

Misc: Born 9-9-71 at Los Angeles, Calif. Is married to former CWU volleyball player Molly Rettkowski. They have one son, Nathan, who was born on Jan. 10, 1999. . . In addition to coaching volleyball is the webmaster for CWU's Athletic home page (www.wildcatsports.com).

BRAD ACKERMAN

Assistant Coach (3rd Year)

Brad Ackerman, a 1987 graduate of Southwest Missouri State, begins his third season as CWU's assistant volleyball coach this fall.

For the previous three seasons, Ackerman served as head coach at Cle Elum-Roslyn High School, twice guiding the Warriors into the district playoffs.

His previous volleyball experience also includes four years as a player (1983-87) in a USVBA-sanctioned league. He also has assisted in volleyball camps at Astoria, Ore., and at the University of Ozarks.

Prior to joining the Cle Elum coaching staff, Ackerman, 36, worked for five years as a fitness instructor. He also worked 5 1/2 years at Boeing and for one year as a health promotion specialist.

Ackerman is a 1982 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School in Sedalia, Mo., where he lettered in cross country, basketball and track-and-field. He competed in cross country for one season at Southwest Missouri.
