Thinking of you
May the giver of all things good and true shower his blessings down on you,

Blessings that strength and courage send ~

Letter

Dear Carol and all –

Have had you in mind so much then the card came yesterday giving your telephone number – but no message at all – so before Edna can “break away” from her added duties I will say a few words about our serious interests. We have the Dean Barber family here while their house is being painted and Cordies mother who has been with them for a while is here too so our time is quite fully occupied. Also a big snow storm has at last home our way and we are seeing a veretable (veritable) fairyland with snow covering every objects. The big evergreen trees have become pure white and snow is still falling. A big snow plow is constantly clearing the roads so some transportations still continuous.

I’d like to be out in it some too but am not too certain about getting about yet so stay inside. I had my fitting for glasses last Saturday and they’ll be mailed to this weekend. I hope or soon after.

My Dr warned me to be very cautious on first using glasses as they enlarge and its easy to have an accident. So I’ll have to continue being quite inactive and you know that’s not easy to be so useless! Will be very thankful if I can read + write. We want you to know that we are grieved with you, over Vernon experience, and hope the disappointments can be overcome and life still can hold much than is good + worthwhile.

I had a good letter from Vera which I appreciate so much but she gave no news of you. I haven’t read a letter or Sidney Herald since I came here so have scores of letters to pursue when I get some vision again. Edna reads all to me but I want to read them to really appreciate them
