NEW MEMBERS OF FACULTY LISTED

Eleven New Professional Faces Seen on Campus

C. W. C. E. is really growing! The year 1937-1938 brings five new faculty members to our campus. In addition, there are seven faculty members who are replacing teachers who have leaves of absence.

A new department, the Department of Commercial Education, has been added to the College. In charge of this department is Mr. Alva E. Treadwell, a graduate of Walla Walla High School and Washington State College.

In the Department of English is a new assistant professor, Miss Catharine Bullard, a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

The Health and Physical Education department has a new instructor, Mr. George Mabee.

Mr. Howard Deye, who has been elected assistant professor of music and director of the college orchestra at the Central Washington College of Education to replace Karl Ernst, who has gone to the San Francisco State Teachers College.

Miss Edna Louise Lent, a graduate of the University of South Carolina, replaces Mrs. Alice McLean Fadden as assistant librarian.

In the training school, Mrs. Gladys M. Fair is in charge of the fourth grade while Miss Bloomer is doing some advanced work. Mrs. Fair is a graduate of the Colorado State College of Education. Miss Fanchon Yeager is substituting in the first grade for Mrs. Pearl Jones who is doing additional work at the Colorado State College of Education. Miss Yeager graduated from the State University of Iowa.

Miss Jennie Moore also has a leave of absence during 1937-1938. She is attending the Teachers College at Columbia University.

BUSINESS DEPT. NEW ADDITION

This quarter C. W. C. E. has added a department in Commercial Education which comes as a welcome addition to the curriculum. Although no degree can be earned in this department, the courses offered lead to commercial teaching and are equivalent to two years work in the Business Administration department of any accredited college. A student who has taken the work offered here in two years can complete work for high school teaching at either the University of Washington or W. S. C. According to Mr. Alva Treadwell, head of the department, there is a large demand for commercial education teachers, especially men who can assist with coaching.

Course Practice

Courses are not, however, limited to those who will major in Business Administration, they would be helpful to any student. Prospective junior high school teachers would find these courses in conjunction with some other major field very desirable. A student completing the two years course offered here should have a good foundation for any business job if he found himself unable to further his studies.

The classes in Commercial Education have been much larger than the school anticipated, there being a total of 117 enrolment. There are 45 listed in Business Correspondence. This course, comprising one quarter's work, teaches the student the art of writing business letters. Business Law, with a total of 26, aims to make the teacher "law-minded" and would be especially helpful in aiding him to keep out of business difficulties. Twenty-seven pupils have registered in the Accounting class. In addition to these courses, Shorthand, which has 19 entrants, is included in the department. There are also classes offered in Business Economics and in Typing.

"I am very anxious to build up the Commercial Education Department," declares Mr. Treadwell. "It is something new at C. W. C. E. but similar departments in other colleges have long held prominent places and attracted large enrolment. The rumor that prospective students have been rejected is incorrect. The classes are large, but there is always room for more."

MATHEWS' POEM IN MERCURY

Prof. A. J. Mathews of the Department of Language and Literature makes his appearance in the American Mercury for October with a long poem entitled "Deeper Than Atlanta," which has for its subject the late Huey Long of Louisiana. Mr. Mathews, who was published last year in the University of Iowa's American Prefaces, sold the poem to the Mercury late last spring.

Ironically called an "elegy" by its author, the poem makes little use of elegiac conventions: the poet pretends no grief; the form is free, allowing the inclusion of scraps of newspaper headlines, a lament from Long's mother, a stump speech and a radio harangue by Huey himself; and at the end the conventional solace is extended rather to the unsympathetic reader ("Dictators sink in it deeper than other men do") than to mourning friends.

The poem has considerable merit. In his use of the American idiom in the Huey Long passage, in his handling of the regional dialect, in the delicate lyrics, in the nervous play of sound within the line, and, finally, in the hard intellectual compactness of the poet's own words at the end, Mr. Mathews reveals himself to be a poet not only with a very fine ear, which he undoubtedly has, and an incisive mind, which is also his; but he seems to be a poet of versatility and range as well. The Mercury version, it should be known, has been cut by the editors, and perhaps not very intelligently, but the poem seems to have survived the amputation not too unhappily.

Crier readers who were not here last summer may be interested in knowing that we saw a July production of this work in the form of a masque, with staging by Mr. Lembke, and brilliant music by Mr. Pyle. A similar production of the piece is now being planned at Eugene, Oregon, and one may be arranged at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa.

We are glad that Mathews is here. We feel that his presence distinguishes this school, both for what he has accomplished at this moment, and for what this poem seems to imply for his future.

ABSENCE REGULATIONS

All students are expected to be present each class period unless illness or other emergency prevents. If one is unavoidably absent from class, an excuse, signed by the school nurse (for illness), by Margaret Holmes, Dean of Women, or by O. H. Holmes, Dean of Men (reason other than illness) may be filed in the Registrar's Office. A student may show the excuse to each instructor before leaving it in the Registrar's Office. Excuses must be filed within one week of the date upon which the student returns to class.

Students of less than junior standing are subject to a penalty of one-quarter cut in credit for each unexcused absence. The responsibility of filing excuses in the office and for nakin gup all work missed lies entirely with the student.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Miss Dean requests that all illnesses be reported to the infirmary or Miss Hall. Call Black 5571 before 10 a. m. No excuses will be given for absences not previously reported.

classes. The office staff reports that enrolment lacks but 30 in equaling the all time high reached in 1928. So busy was the staff that they failed to get reports to the college press, necessitating this news to be scooped by a wide-awake Crier reporter. More detailed information was impossible in such an enthusiasm for college entrance.

HALLS FILLED

At the close of the first week, the enrolment of students surpassed the enrolment at the same time last fall by over 10 per cent. Munson Hall for men was filled before college opened, which made it necessary for a large number of boys to secure rooms in Ellensburg homes. Only fourteen beds for women are left in Kamola and Sue Lombard halls. The Department of Physical Education reports that physical examinations have been given to a larger group of men than ever before. With the large enrolment, the activities will fare well this year. The football squad numbers fifty, the a capella chorus and orchestra are well filled, and the Saturday night mixer was so large that it packed the new gymnasium.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF YEAR HELD

Byars Welcomes Freshmen Cooperation Urged

Thursday morning the new freshmen saw their first college assembly, as they were officially welcomed to the campus. President Robert E. McConnell greeted the newcomers and urged regular attendance by all students to the assemblies during the coming year. After the Alma Mater was sung by the students and faculty, the new faculty members were introduced, followed by an organ selection by the new organist, Miss Betty Stropes.

Byars Welcomes Freshmen

Welcoming the freshmen, Fleming Byars, president of the Associated Student Body, asked for cooperation and participation by all students in the A. S. B. activities for this year. Marjorie Allen, president of the Women's League, welcomed the freshmen, followed by an explanation of the health services available on the campus by Miss Dean, and an announcement by the coming physical examinations by Mr. Barto.

Mr. Whitney, dean and registrar of the college, spoke a few words, saying that students should in college combine their old experiences with the new they find here. He was followed by an announcement of events for the week-end by Mrs. Holmes. Dr. McRae asked for new writers for the Campus Crier, inviting incoming students as well as upper classmen.

Cooperation Urged

Dr. McConnell closed the assembly by urging students to use their new freedom that college life affords wisely and well, and asked for the cooperation of students holding N. Y. A. jobs, urging them to take advantage of the position in which they find themselves.

"There are two differences between a successful person and a less successful person," he said. The first he mentioned was their degree of imagination, their ability to find new ideas of attacking problems. The second was their initiative, doing the right thing at the right time. He illustrated his point by reading "A Message to Garcia."

George W. Mabee, former coach at the J. M. Weatherwax High School at Aberdeen, has been appointed as head track coach and instructor in physical education at the Central Washington College of Education. He holds degrees from Oregon State College and the University of Oregon.

Miss Helen Michelsen, who holds a M. A. degree from the University of Washington, comes to C. W. C. E. as instructor in Home Economics and Social Director of Kamola Hall.

Another nurse, Miss Corinne Willis, has been added to the faculty this year. Miss Willis is a graduate of the five-year nurses course at the University of Washington.

In the Department of Geography Miss Enid Miller is substituting for Mr. Shaw, who is at the University of Wisconsin working toward his Ph. D. degree. Miss Miller is a graduate of the University of Washington.

In the Music Department there are three new faculty members. Mr. Franz Brodine, a graduate of Columbia University, is substituting for Mr. Pyle, who is studying at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester. Miss Davies' position is being filled by Miss Betty Stropes, a graduate of North Western University.

Replacing Mr. Ernst is Mr. Howard Deye, who was formerly Director of Instrumental Music in the Public Schools at Boise, Idaho.

Any men students who have not taken their physical examinations, see Mr. Barto AT ONCE about an appointment.

The regular medical examination fee will be charged unless an appointment is made before October 4.

EDITORIAL

In accordance with the aims of the Associated Students the Campus Crier is embarking upon a progressive program this year. The staff and the faculty advisers are pledged to maintain and carry forward the standards of this publication in relation to its function as the reflector of student and faculty opinion and thought as well as regular campus community news and interests.

In any dynamic institution there are at all times issues and events which are of concern and interest to students both as individuals and as members of the group. If we are to maintain our name in this community and this state, we have a place to fill as a center for educational and social interest and thought. It is the aim of the Crier to do its share in bringing the college to this end.

For the benefit of new students and faculty and to remind the others we wish to call attention to the Open Forum Department on this page. This column is to give students and faculty an opportunity to express any criticisms, opinions and ideas which are aroused by events here or anywhere which in any way concern educated and mature people. It is hoped that these contributed letters will reflect the kind of thought which will do credit to this paper and this school.

The editorial staff urges everyone to express himself freely but judiciously, and thus cooperate with us in going forward.
M. E.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

There was, I believe, a statement made at the beginning of school concerning cooperation in social events. While I am of the opinion that this is a somewhat far distant Utopia, it's a good idea. It would be better if it would work. Social events in this institution haven't been at a standstill—they've been backsliding.

Last Saturday evening there was an A. S. B. party, supposedly. However, it gave more the appearance of a dance, with lots of bystanders. One young freshman was heard to remark after he had asked a young lady to dance: "Now I won't have to sing the Alma Mater. It is worth it." How can there be one big happy family when various of its junior members are going to take that attitude? But maybe it's not their fault. Look at the example they have set before them in the form of various lettermen. Beautiful social introverts, all of them. We admire them from a distance, but we would like them much more if they could be civil to us, just for a change. But if they did honor us by dancing with us, they might plant their brawn all over our feet, so maybe its better the way it is. But did you ever stop to think, if such a function be possible in some of the manly muscle wandering around here, that to give one or two girls a rush is really awfully hard on shoe leather, and that the rest of us like to buy new ones once in a while?

Perhaps you gallant gentlemen will say that you don't know who we are. Well, we don't know who you are either, but we'd be willing to bet that just as many of your ancestors lived in trees as ours. So let down your hair and forget that you can hug a pigskin tighter than anyone else on the fifth string.

Now about those of us who don't dance. We like entertainment and social contacts just as much as any one else. Can't you make some sort of a provision for us? We know that a feeble attempt was made Saturday, but you might at least try and make us feel like we belonged there, and not like jumping out the nearest window.

I realize that this is a small school and that to be the biggest frog in a little puddle is quite easy, but some day all the little frogs are going to get wise. Of course, this is all a lot of idle chatter unless some action is taken, and it is with this hope that I write.

A BLUE STOCKING.

Dear Open Forum Editor:

I am the speaking voice of the working man, or should I say the dancing workers? My style is exceedingly ancient and I find myself hopping between beats. My ear for music and time are at fault you say? No, my friend, it is entirely the C. W. C. E. who is to blame.

Mayhap I should delve deeper and explain my complaint. As you know, dinner dances are held weekly from seven till eight. It is a very nice time but it coincides with the N. Y. A. boys' working hours. We must needs stand with a broom and gape while others "swing it."

My case is a common one and too I have a solution. Hold the dances from eight until nine and let everyone truck.

Interfere with study? Nonsense. Students are more able to study before the excitement of a dance than after. No one feels like studying after an hour of music and hopping around. They feel more like a good icy coco cola.

Why not break down and break up an old school tradition?

Lend me a helping hand fellow students!

An N. Y. A. Worker.

FACULTY RELAX DURING VACATION

During vacation between summer and fall quarters, the college professors meandered here and there along the coast with a few dashing inland. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes went to Vancouver Island where they stayed at The Small Charming Hotel, Victoria. Mrs. Holmes particularly enjoyed the china shops and flower gardens. Mr. Lemke was very complacent about how he spent his vacation: he divided his time between slumber and books with a few trips to Seattle on the side. On her visit to her home in Michigan, Miss Dean was pleasantly thrilled with a ride for the first time on the streamliner. Mr. Hogue stayed at home and played tennis, except when he toddled over to Seattle for several days . . . oh yes, and when he attempted to scale Mt. Rainier was caught in a blizzard before he got anywhere. Miss Johnson, however, was successful in climbing Mt. Davis despite Mr. Barto's ejaculation that anyone who climbs a mountain is "plain silly." For three weeks she was entertained on a dude ranch at Salmon la Sac—of course she painted a sketch.

Dr. Samuelson spent a week on the coast. During the course of his short tour he saw the City Light plant at Skagit and visited Mt. Baker lodge, although he did not climb Mt. Baker. He also drove up to Vancouver Island. Mr. Matthews dropped down to San Francisco for three weeks. Modern art in the United States he found is not so deplorable as far as keeping up to date is concerned. He went to an art show of Surrealist paintings and visited the same exhibit of Cezanne's work that he saw in Paris last year. He also "went crazy in Chinatown." Whether it followed as a consequence to his art experience will, of course, remain a matter of speculation and, anyway, is beside the point. Mr. Trainer also spent some time in California near San Francisco. However, he was not at all loquacious about his activities, the reason, if there is one, being unknown.

Plans Announced for Drama and Music

Mr. Snyder, head of the Music Department, paused long enough to tell this reporter that "he was so busy his tongue was hanging out, and that it was a little early to ask him for his plans for the coming year."

He did, however, let drop a hint that the school concert will be on December 1, and that on December 15 the Music Department will sponsor a symphony concert with Mary McCormack appearing as soloist.

The school orchestra and choruses have begun their training for the school concert, the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Deye, and the choruses under Mr. Snyder's leadership.

Mr. Lemke, head of the Speech Department, announced that although his plans are not complete as yet, he plans a very busy and interesting time for all those students intrigued by the footlights this year.

The one production that he is sure of doing at this early date is "Trial by Jury," one of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan operettas which have kept their popularity for decades. Mr. Lemke's production, he announced, will not have the Sullivan music, and will be presented for Homecoming in lieu of the usual Stunt Night.

Mr. Lemke is choosing his cast at the present, and the play will go into rehearsal immediately, for Homecoming is early this year—dated October 29 and 30.

DORMITORY AND OFF-CAMPUS NEWS

KAMOLA NEWS

When girls, luggage, etc. began pouring into Kamola Hall last week, it was thought that the attics would have to be opened in order to find rooms for everyone. For a few days the attic rooms were used, but since then, rooms have been found on lower floors for Kamola's record enrollment of 125 girls.

Upper classmen were surprised and pleased to find the two recreation rooms in Kaloma greatly improved by the addition of eight new davenport, several overstuffed chairs, new curtains, and new drapes. The East room presents a more inviting appearance now and perhaps it will be used for more than house meetings and Sunday visitors.

At the first house meeting last week the officers for the ensuing year were introduced. The president, Vivian Peter, introduced the other officers: Marie Lusby, vice-president; Edna Lenhart, treasurer; Margaret Moulster, secretary; and Genevieve Musson, social commissioner. Mrs. Holmes introduced Kamola's new social advisor, Miss Helen Michaelson, who also teaches on the campus, and Mrs. Worman, who will assist Miss Michaelson.

At the second house meeting last Monday Miss Michaelson gave a very interesting talk on color in clothing, and she will speak again next Monday on style and design.

The upper classmen didn't think they had done quite enough to the Freshmen on the two initiation days last week so for this week-end they have planned a party which promises to be lots of fun. All the girls should come, if they don't want to miss something good.

Also for the Freshmen, Kamola is going to conduct a big sister program. Each Freshman girl will have a big sister to whom she can go with questions, or problems, and can ask for advice. She should feel free to go to her big sister at any time. It is hoped that in this way the Freshmen may get better acquainted with the older girls and can save themselves time and trouble by asking advice of someone who has been in school here before.

SUE LOMBARD HALL

The autumn quarter of 1937-38 has come to visit our campus. Many new faces greet us upper classmen as we dash hither and yon, and we extend to these new people our hospitality with great pleasure. Sue Lombard Hall is not alone in extending this honor. To the new girls in this hall we older members welcome you. We hope that your time with us is a very happy and fruitful one.

We upper classmen have discovered that our Social Commissioner is not attending school. We are to elect a new one to take her place.

This year we are having our house meetings at a different time. Formerly they were held at 10 o'clock, but they have been changed to the hour of seven.

The Sue Lombard girls appreciate the new furniture that we have in our visiting rooms.

Visitors this week-end were: Miss Jay Custer of Pasco to see her sister Miss Marguerite Custer, and Miss Elinore Freeman of Seattle to visit Miss Patricia Page.

Upon glancing over the list of girls who are staying in Sue this quarter we find that there are two Marjorie Browns. One of them is a new student from Wapato, and is the sister of Miss Dorothy Brown. The other one is a second year student from Wenatchee.

Miss Ruth Ganders, who is teaching in Cle Elum this year, was a Sunday visitor on the campus. Miss Helen Reynolds, who is also teaching in Cle Elum, accompanied her.

Miss Hull spent the week-end with her parents in Yakima.

Those leaving for the week-end or for part of it were: Miss Betty Hays, Miss Ethel May Cochrane, and Miss Victoria Templeton to Naches, Miss Winifred Meddin to Tacoma, Miss Louise Gilmore to Wapato, Miss Dorothy Hart to Leavenworth to go deer hunting with her father, Miss Dorthia Nichols and Miss Pauline Kridel to Cle Elum, Miss Margaret Jose and Miss Lillian Shin to Seattle, Miss Pauline Terry to Wenatchee and Miss Isabelle Yarnell to Yakima.

OFF CAMPUS NEWS

Since school has just started, there is really very little that can be written about. We are glad to see all the old faces back, and so many new ones. And speaking of faces, we expect to see all of them in the Off-Campus room this coming Saturday evening after the football game. Children, it's going to be a party—not only to celebrate our victory over Gonzaga, but to get acquainted. For the benefit of those who are new to our campus the Off-Campus room is on the fourth floor of the Administration Building. It's our room, we kind of like it, and we want you to use it as if it were your own.

WOMEN'S MIXER
HOWLING SUCCESS

A merry mix-up of both halls and off-campus girls was held in Sue Lombard Hall, Friday evening, September 23, at 8:30. This is an annual affair sponsored by the Women's League for the purpose of acquainting the new girls with the older students.

Dancing was enjoyed in the early part of the evening. Later get-acquainted games were played. The center of attraction, however, seemed to be Miss Helen Hathaway who spent the entire evening telling fortunes.

Dean Holmes entertained the girls with her traditional stories and rhymes. All girls look forward to these every year.

Miss Marjorie Allen, president of the Women's League, announced that Miss Louise Perrault and Miss Elsie Graber had been appointed treasurer and social commissioner respectively for the ensuing term. This was voted upon in favor of the appointments.

Ice cream bars were served as refreshment.

ANNUAL TEA IS WELL ATTENDED

Many new acquaintances were made at the annual Women's League tea given Sunday in Kamola Hall in honor of the faculty and new students.

Irene Hurd greeted the many students and faculty who called between the hours of 4 and 5:30 and presented them to Miss Marjorie Allen, president of the Women's League for the coming year. Receiving with Miss Allen were Mrs. Holmes, Dean of Women; the council, consisting of Mary Beth Kiser, vice-president, Helen Fairbrook, secretary, Louise Perrault, treasurer, and Elsie Graeber, social chairman. Vivian Peter, president of Kamola, Margaret Lawrence, president of Sue Lombard, and Ernestine Eschbach, president of the Off Campus Club also received.

Tea was served from an attractively appointed table presided over by Miss Michaelson, Mrs. Rainey, and Mrs. Maynard, house mothers of the respective dormitories. A bevy of new freshmen girls assisted in serving.

A profusion of gay autumn flowers decorated the hall. Margaret and Mildred Moulster were in charge of decorations, while Hope McPherson and Mildred Eastlund had charge of refreshments.

MANY ATTEND FASHION TALKS

Monday evening, Sept. 27., at Kamola Hall, Miss Helen Michaelson, instructor in Home Arts and Social Director of Kamola, gave the first in a series of three talks on suitable dress for the college girl. Her subject that evening was "Color in Dress."

Miss Michaelson opened her discussion with a few suggestions regarding good taste in campus styles. She enumerated several things to be avoided, such as bright nail polish and earrings, which are in bad taste for campus wear. She also stated that chiffon hose are not suitable with school shoes.

The college girl who has to dress on a limited income should select her coat in brown, black, or navy blue, and harmonize the rest of her clothes with the "key color" used in the coat.

The speaker illustrated her lecture with samples of colored fabric. She showed how the color of a garment can enhance or detract from one's personality, and can influence one's mood. Red, for example, is a color which should be worn by very few people. It is an aggressive color which tends to overwhelm and cheapen any but a very strong personality. Blue, on the contrary, is retiring and demure. It is a shade which denotes dignity and commands respect.

She stated that brilliant colors used for a complete ensemble will submerge the personality. These colors should be used only in small areas. Older women should wear shades, colors to which black has been added; while tints, colors which embody white, should be reserved for youth.

Miss Michaelson said that a knowledge of color can make a girl well dressed on a small income. Variety in color, however, is very expensive because harmonious combinations are difficult to assemble with too many colors in the wardrobe. She added that when planning their wardrobes, girls might well remember that Michelangelo, when asked how he mixed his colors, replied that he mixed them with common sense.

Miss Michaelson concluded her interesting discussion by telling the girls that clothes should not be an end in themselves. A girl should be well dressed so that she can forget herself to the extent that she will have more time for other things.

New P. E. Classes Offered by Mabee

INTRODUCIN', at 198 pounds, Mr. George Mabee (pronounced "may-be"). Coming to us from Oregon State College, this gentleman with a voice like Lionel Stander's, is the newest member of our coaching staff and will be in charge of several classes in the department of Physical Education.

Mr. Mabee is a graduate of the University of Wyoming where he saw grid action, playing end and tackle for the Cowboys under Coach Deats, who won the national coaching title when at Washington State College. Mr. Mabee was assistant football coach at Oregon where he also handled the classes in boxing and wrestling and was coach of the boxing team.

Mr. Mabee's boxing classes proved to be immensely popular at Oregon State. Beginning with only twelve students the class grew in size until, at the end of the second year, this activity required the services of three instructors, each of whom had several classes daily. Boxing is being offered here at 11 this quarter and new classes have already been scheduled for the winter quarter. Mr. Mabee urges as many men students as is possible to enter these classes which he promises to be interesting, entertaining and valuable as training.

Classes will be under careful supervision and no student need fear the slightest injury. Special attention will be given to rope skipping, handling the punching bag, of which there are two this year, and of defensive work. Any student who may be interested in working out at the punching bag only and who does not wish to enter the boxing activities in general is invited to do so.

Boxing will occupy approximately half of the time during the quarter and the other half will be devoted to wrestling which promises to be equally interesting and useful. A new wrestling room is now under construction upstairs in the new addition to the gymnasium.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS BEST IN YEARS, SAYS NICHOLSON

Many Lettermen Back and New Material Looks Good

Coach Leo Nicholson really has something this year, and I don't mean maybe. With forty men out for the varsity and fighting tooth and nail for positions, the football field during practice sessions reminds one of the Chinese-Japanese war. Coach Nicholson and his assistants Pete Barto and George Mabee have nine lettermen to build the team around besides a great many high school and prep stars who look like the real McCoy.

The failure of Bud Borst, All Conference center, to report was the most serious jolt to Nicholson's ambitions, but Joe Lassoie, a last year's guard, has been working out in the pivot position. Lester Rach, ex-fullback from Deer Park, shows lots of power in backing up the line, and in addition to these men, Bert Williams, Queen Anne; Fleming Byars, a back last year; Art Newman, Renton, and Ted Lund, Hoquiam, are trying out for the center position.

First String Men

The first string lineup last week was Lassoie, center, Dick Thurston and Joe Smoke, lettermen, at the guard posts, Alvin Anderson, another tackle, and Glen Farris and Al Goodman, both of Centralia, ends. Farris is vet, and Bob Coy, Marysville, at probably the best kicker on the team and both men are good pass receivers.

The backfield is being built around Jerry Huggins, veteran quarterback, and one of the best passers in the Conference. The rest of the backfield quartet include Tom Matelak of Aberdeen, a triple threat man, Jim Clifton of Raymond, who is a hard driving back, and Jack Tomlinson of Chehalis, an open field threat and a good blocker.

Competition Keen

This lineup, however, is very uncertain, and all of the veterans are being closely pressed by the other members of the squad. There is competition at every post in the form of Bill Hopkins, letterman tackle, Kenny Meeks, a last year's man, Tauno Ottelin, Hoquiam, Ambrose Anderson, and John Stedham, converted from end, all aspiring for tackle positions. Bill Funk, Montana, Beryl Bedard, Larry Wilson, Aberdeen, Lowell Lewis, and Borst are pressing hard for guard positions.

The rest of the Wildcat squad are Freddie Taylor, letterman back, White, Hahn, George Palo, also a letterman, George Pitt, also an experienced back, Markstrom, Hume, Woods, East, Ekma, Burnett, a letterman who is on the injury list, and Walt Bull.

With this galaxy of stars, how can we miss the Tri-College championship? This squad deserves the support of every member of the A. S. B. and we expect to see all of you at the opening game against Gonzaga Frosh next Saturday night.

Mixed Foursomes Are Popular

Many of the coeds and "Joe Colleges" have been asking for a mixed two ball foursome this fall, and we believe that their request is a very good one. A match of this type was conducted last spring, and proved to be a very successful affair. Twenty couples turned out for the event and they were very enthusiastic about the outcome.

Fabio Cappa, who started the idea last year, is endeavoring to make arrangements with the local golf course, and if the 25-cent entrance fee is accepted by the Ellensburg Golf Club the two ball foursome will be a thing to look forward to. If you won't take my word for it ask anyone who played last year.

For the benefit of the newcomers and any other people who did not know of this affair, the gentleman invites a lady to play with him. They play with one golf pellet, and alternate on the shots. The combined total for eighteen holes of playing is their score. The lowest combined score of course is the winner.

Regardless of your ability everyone is cordially invited to play, for last year the scores varied between 86 and 220 for eighteen holes, and they all had a very good time, and after all that is the purpose of the game.

The boys furnish the few balls that are necessary, and the pair may double up on one set of clubs if they wish.

Watch this column for further news about the mixed foursome.

P. E. DEPT. ENLARGED

New improvements in the physical education department mark the opening of the fall quarter at the Central Washington College of Education.

Offered to all students for the first time is a complete medical examination. Football boys have already completed theirs, while the rest of the students will take theirs the week of September 27th.

The enlarged gymnasium offers improved facilities to record-breaking classes. Included in the addition are new shower rooms for both boys and girls.
