Dr. Jimmie R. Applegate
Chairman, Senate Curriculum Committee
Campus

Dear Dr. Applegate:

Thank you for your letter in which specific request is made for clarification regarding the intended scope and purpose of the A/S Communicative Disorders major. The first point that needs to be established is that the academic program as question is not designed to produce classroom teachers. The person majoring in the Communicative Disorders area is receiving clinical knowledge and skills; these are definitely not intended to be used in the classroom.

Hence, in response to your first question, the T/Ed Major was deemed inappropriate by the A.C.C. and by faculty in this Department and was therefore deleted.

With regard to questions 2, 3, and 4: the wording supplied by the A.C.C. is apparently somewhat confusing and has raised the above questions by creating the entirely erroneous impression that this is a teaching major. Actually the sentence, "In addition, prospective secondary teachers must accompany this with a second area of concentration in which the major portion of teaching is expected," was included to emphasize that this is not a teaching major. Dr. Bernard Jackson and I were present when the A.C.C. inserted the above quoted instructions regarding "prospective teachers," and we pointed out to the committee at that time that its inclusion was superfluous in that no classroom teaching was engaged in by the speech and hearing therapists involved. However, our views did not prevail and the sentence was included, again, with the intent of establishing clearly that the major was of a non-teaching variety.

Possibly there was some understandable misinterpretation of the nature of the A/S Major due to its inclusion of the Professional Education Sequence. The Professional Education Sequence is included, at present, because of a rather close working relationship between speech and hearing therapists working in public school systems and professional educators. However, its inclusion as a requirement, as stated, is in accordance with certification requirements of the State of Washington. The wisdom of this requirement is questionable, but must be abided by.

In conclusion then: (1) the T/Ed Major was deleted because of its inappropriateness; (2) the A/S Communicative Disorders Major is a non-teaching major and therefore excluded to classroom teaching methods courses; (3) the clinical practicum is referral training and is in no way to be equated or confused with student teaching; (4) since we are not concerned with a teaching major, and both the A.C.C. and the Senate Curriculum Committee have reviewed and agreed to this fact, its referral to the Teacher Education Council would seem highly inappropriate in this case.
Possibly some discussion with the Teacher Education Council might have occurred in connection with the dropping of the T/Ed Major. However this was not seen as necessary by the A.C.C. and was not initiated by this Department. I would like to emphasize that, while some review might be done concerning the dropping of the T/Ed Major, I can see no reasonable objections to approving the A/S Major, and I therefore urge its speedy passage by the Senate.

I might add that if there is agreement that the sentence referring to “prospective usefulness” that I have quoted above is seem to be both superfluous and misleading, then we would welcome its deletion from the proposed major.

I hope that this letter sufficiently satisfies all questions, and, if I can be of any further assistance, please let me know.

Sincere regards,

Roger L. Garrett, Ph.D.

Department of Communication

Dear Dr. Applegate:

Dr. Danton asked me to respond to your two letters of January 11, 1973 concerning curriculum matters.

With respect to the course titled, Economic History of Europe Since 1760 which is currently numbered Economics 388, you are correct. The offering of Econ. 388 has been coordinated with the Department of History. We did not intend nor do we want to alter our relationship with the Department of History concerning this course. Therefore, until the number change can be coordinated with the Department of History, we would like to withdraw our request for a change in the number of the course entitled, Economic History of Europe Since 1760.

To my knowledge, our proposed course, Economics 342, Social Aspects of Economic Behavior, would not be similar to any "current catalogue or experimental course offerings" of any other department on the CWSC campus. With the intention of providing a basis for analyzing contemporary socio-economic issues concerning welfare maximization directives, Econ. 342, has been designed to facilitate students' understanding of the ideological basis, concepts, and resulting policy implications of welfare economics theory.

Even though there is no known content conflict between our proposed course and others currently being offered, the title of the course may be misleading. Therefore, we request that the proposed title of Economics 349 be changed from Social Aspects of Economic Behavior to: Social Economics.

Sincerely,

B. J. Geineha

MEMORANDUM

TO: Faculty
FROM: David Anderson,
Chairman, Faculty Senate

RE: Council of Faculty Representatives Faculty Collective Bargaining Bill

I have enclosed a draft bill prepared by the Council of Faculty Representatives (CFR) which would allow faculty to enter into collective bargaining with the Board of Trustees. The CFR has asked the Faculty Senates at the colleges and universities to consider this draft for endorsement. A special Senate meeting has been called for Wednesday, January 24 in Room 123, Hertz Hall to consider the draft bill.

Legislation allowing collective bargaining will have far reaching effects on the college community. I have asked Senators to encourage discussion of this draft bill among their colleagues. The Senate office will attempt to arrange for a resource person to assist in small group discussions. Simply call the Senate office, 963-3231.

We have available four people who participated in the development of this bill:

- Ken Harsha, CFR representative
- Beverly Heckart, CFR representative
- David Anderson, Senate chairman
AN ACT Relating to higher education; amending section 14, chapter 250, Laws of 1971, ex. sess., and RCW 42.30.140; adding a new chapter to Title 28B RCW; creating new sections; and providing for the collective bargaining rights of academic employees of the state colleges and universities.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:

NEW SECTION. Section 1. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the words used in this 1973 amendatory act shall have the meaning given in this section:

(1) "Academic Employee" means an employee of the state colleges or universities:
   (a) holding a full time faculty appointment for the academic or calendar year with the employer, or holding a part time faculty appointment after at least two years of continuous academic service; or
   (b) holding a full time professional position for the academic or calendar year with the employer as an academic counselor or librarian, or holding a part time professional position as an academic counselor or professional librarian after at least two years of continuous professional service.
   (c) The term "academic employee" shall not include employees holding visiting, clinical, affiliate, or emeritus faculty appointments, or students holding undergraduate or graduate student service appointments, nor shall it include presidents, vice presidents, deans, and their principal and administrative assistants and other supervisors. For the purposes of this 1973 amendatory act, the term "supervisor" shall mean those persons having individual authority, in the interest of the employer, to hire, transfer, suspend, lay off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward, or discipline other academic employees, or responsibility to direct them, or to adjust their grievances.

(2) "Collective bargaining" means the mutual obligations of the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative to bargain in good faith, and to execute a written agreement with respect to salaries, insurance, retirement, related fringe benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment.

(3) "Employee organization" means an organization of any kind having as a primary purpose the improvement of terms and conditions of employment of academic employees.

(4) "Exclusive bargaining representative" means the employee organization certified as the exclusive representative of all academic employees in the bargaining unit by the director of the Department of Labor and Industries pursuant to section 4 of this 1973 amendatory act.

(5) "Employer" means each board of regents of each state university, respectively, and each board of trustees of each state college, respectively.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Academic employees shall have the right of self organization and the right to form, join, or assist any employee organization for the purpose of bargaining collectively through representatives of the academic employees' own choosing on questions of salaries, insurance, retirement, related fringe benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment, and to engage in lawful, concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection, free from interference, restraint or coercion. Academic employees shall also have the right to refrain from any or all such activities free from interference, restraint, or coercion, except to the extent that such right may be affected by an agreement between the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative requiring all members of a bargaining unit to contribute to the costs of collective representation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. In order to foster meaningful collective bargaining, bargaining units must be structured in such a way as to avoid fragmentation whenever possible. In accordance with this policy and for purposes of this 1973 amendatory act, the following constitutes the bargaining unit for each of the state universities and each of the state colleges, respectively:

(1) For each state university, all academic employees of each such university;

(2) For each state college, all academic employees of each such college.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The director of the Department of Labor and Industries shall adopt rules and regulations governing: (a) the conduct of elections which will be the sole basis for determining representation, including the time, place, manner of notification and certification of the results of representation elections; (b) eligibility to vote in such elections; and (c) the manner for filing any petition for such an election or any petition concerning the result of such an election.

(1) Whenever, in accordance with such regulations, a petition is filed by an employee organization showing signed authorizations permitting it to represent at least thirty per cent of the academic employees in a bargaining unit as provided in section 3 herein, the director shall conduct an election by secret ballot to determine whether and by which employee organization a majority of votes cast by academic employees in the bargaining unit desire to be represented for the purpose of collective bargaining. The ballot shall contain, in addition to any other matter prescribed by the director, both the name(s) of any employee organization(s) who have tendered to the Department of Labor and Industries signed authorizations permitting it to represent at least ten per cent of the academic employees within the bargaining unit, and a provision for marking "no exclusive bargaining representative."

(2) In any election in which none of the choices on the ballot receives the votes of a majority of votes cast by the employees in the bargaining unit, a run-off election shall be conducted with the ballot providing for a selection between the two choices receiving the largest number of votes cast in the election. The director shall then certify to the affected employer and employee organization(s) the results of the election(s) and if an employee organization receives the votes of a majority of votes cast by academic employees in the bargaining unit approving it as the exclusive bargaining representative for the academic employees in that unit, the director shall certify the employee organization as the exclusive bargaining representative of all academic employees in the bargaining unit for the purpose of collective bargaining. Such certification shall be effective until either the "no exclusive bargaining representative" choice or a different employee organization or a de-certification choice has received a majority of the votes cast by academic employees in the bargaining unit.

(3) Subject to the provisions of subsection (4) of section 4 of this 1973 amendatory act, whenever a petition is filed showing that at least thirty per cent of the academic employees in the bargaining unit desire not to be represented by the then currently exclusive bargaining representative, the director shall conduct an election by secret ballot to determine whether a majority of the votes cast by the academic employees in the bargaining unit desire that such currently certified exclusive bargaining representative be de-certified by the director. The director shall certify to the affected employer and employee organization the results of such election, and if a majority of the votes cast by the academic employees in the bargaining unit are in favor of de-certification, the director shall certify that such affected employee organization is no longer the exclusive bargaining representative in the bargaining unit.

(4) No election, other than a run-off election, shall be ordered to be conducted by the director in any bargaining unit within which a valid election other than a de-certification election has been held in the preceding twelve months: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That where a valid collective bargaining agreement is in force and effect, a petition for an election may only be filed not less than sixty nor more than ninety days prior to the expiration of the agreement: PROVIDED, FURTHER, That no collective bargaining agreement may exceed the term of three calendar years in duration.

(5) In any election in which a "no exclusive bargaining representative" vote is cast by a majority of the votes cast by the academic employees in the bargaining unit, such result shall be certified by the director to the affected employer and employee organization(s).

(6) Upon receipt by the director of the Department of Labor and Industries of a petition signed by at least thirty per cent of the members of any class of employees within the bargaining unit requesting that such class of employees be included or excluded as "academic employees" within the bargaining unit for the purposes of this act, the director of the Department of Labor and Industries shall conduct an election to determine if a majority of the members voting in the petitioning class of employees wish to alter their status. If the majority vote to alter their status, the director shall then conduct an election among the academic employees within the bargaining unit. The majority of the votes cast will determine whether the class of employees whose status is to be affected shall be included or excluded from the academic employees covered by this act. The director shall certify to the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative the results of such election.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5

(1) The employee organization which has been certified by the director of the Department of Labor and Industries as representing the majority of academic employees in a bargaining unit shall be the exclusive bargaining representative of all such employees in the unit. Each such exclusive bargaining representative shall have the right and duty to bargain in good faith, act for and negotiate written agreements covering all academic employees in the bargaining unit, and shall be responsible for representing before their employer the interests of all such employees without regard to employee organization membership.

(2) Nothing contained in this 1973 amendatory act nor in any contract negotiated pursuant thereto shall prohibit any academic employee from appearing in his own behalf on matters relating to his employment relations with his employer; provided, however, that no agreement shall be reached between the employer and the employee, inconsistent with the terms of the then current collective-bargaining agreement, and provided further that the then certified agent be informed of the terms of such individual agreement.

NEW SECTION. Section 6.

(1) The employer and the exclusive bargaining representative shall meet at reasonable times including meetings in advance of the employer's adoption of a budget for submission to the governor, and shall bargain in good faith with respect to salaries, insurance, retirement, related fringe benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment which are subject to negotiations under this 1973 amendatory act and which are to be embodied in a written agreement: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That such obligation does not compel either party to agree to a particular proposal or to make a particular concession.

(2) The employer shall have the power to delegate to the president or his designee(s) any of the powers or duties vested in or imposed upon it by this 1973 amendatory act and such delegated powers or duties may be exercised in the name of the respective employer: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the employer shall, at its discretion, retain the final power to approve or reject any proposed written agreement between the parties.

(3) No collective bargaining agreement negotiated by the bargaining agent shall become effective until ratified by a majority of the votes cast by the academic employees in the bargaining unit if the proposed agreement requires all members of the bargaining unit to contribute to the cost of collective representation; if not so specified ratification shall be by a majority of votes cast by members of the representative employee organization.

(4) Any written agreement between the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative determining the terms and conditions of employment of academic employees shall contain and be subject to the following notice:

"It is agreed by and between the parties hereto that any provision of this agreement requiring legislative action to permit its implementation by amendment of law or by providing the requisite funds therefor shall not become effective unless and until the legislature has enacted the necessary implementing acts or appropriated the requisite funds."

If any provision of any written agreement between the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative requires implementation and appropriations by legislative action, the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative shall be required to seek such implementation and appropriations actively and in good faith.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Nothing in this 1973 amendatory act shall be construed to interfere with the responsibilities and rights of the employer as specified by federal and state law, including the employer's responsibilities to students, the public, and other constituent elements of the institution.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. For the purpose of participation in the collective bargaining process, the president of the associated students at each state college and university and the president of the graduate and professional student association where present at each state college and university may designate a representative who shall be included on the employer's collective bargaining team at the respective college or university, PROVIDED, That the student representatives shall not have authority to condition approval of an agreement between the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9.

(1) Each employer is hereby empowered to enter into written agreements with the exclusive bargaining representative of its bargaining unit setting forth procedures to be invoked in the event of any dispute arising during the course of bargaining or concerning the application of any term or condition of a written agreement between the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative, including but not limited to grievance procedures and impasse procedures; such agreements may include an agreement to submit unresolved issues to mediation, conciliation, fact-finding, or binding arbitration, or to utilize such other means as the parties may elect to assist in the resolution of such issues.

(2) The employer and exclusive bargaining representative are hereby empowered to utilize the services of a person or persons to assist in the resolution of issues as provided in subsection 1 of this section 9: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the costs of such services when performed pursuant to the power granted in subsection 1 of this section 9 shall be borne equally by the employer and the exclusive bargaining representative.

(3) In the event the parties mutually agree that they are unable to agree on the procedures to be utilized for resolving disputes arising during the course of bargaining or concerning the application of any term or condition of a written agreement among the parties, the parties shall submit the issue of such procedures to arbitration before a three-member panel of arbitrators composed of one member selected by each party and one member selected by the employer and employee members of the panel. The decision of a majority of such three-member panel shall be final and binding upon all parties until the expiration of the first collective bargaining agreement entered into by the parties subsequent to the arbitration held pursuant to this subsection (3) of section 9 of this 1973 amendatory act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Nothing contained in this 1973 amendatory act shall permit, grant, or deny to any academic employee the right to strike or refuse to perform his official duties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Contracts or agreements, or any provision thereof entered into between employers and employee organizations pursuant to this 1973 amendatory act shall not be affected by or subject to chapter 28B.19 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Existing policy, custom, or practice of the employer and procedures for changing such policy, custom, or practice shall not be affected by this 1973 amendatory act, except that agreements made pursuant to this 1973 amendatory act, if contrary to policy, custom, or practice, shall prevail.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. If any part of this 1973 amendatory act or any provision of a written agreement entered into pursuant thereto shall be found to be in conflict with federal requirements which are a condition precedent to the allocation of federal funds to the state or to a state college or university, such conflicting part of this 1973 amendatory act or of such provision of such a written agreement is hereby declared to be inoperative solely to the extent of such conflict and with respect to the state college or university directly affected, and such finding or determination shall not affect the operation of the remainder of this 1973 amendatory act in its application to other state colleges or universities or the remainder of the written agreement of the state college or university directly affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14.

(1) Each and every provision of RCW 41.56.140 through 41.56.190 shall be applicable to this amendatory act with "public employer" replaced with "employer" and "public employee" replaced with "academic employee" throughout.

(2) It shall further be an unfair labor practice for employers or bargaining representatives of academic employees to discriminate on the basis of race, age, color, creed, national origin, or sex.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. Sections 1 through 14 and 19 of this 1973 amendatory act are added to chapter 223, Laws of 1969, ex. sess., and to Title 28B RCW as a new chapter thereof.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The board of regents at each state university and the board of trustees at each state college may in the exercise of their discretion adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 28B.19 RCW to authorize and govern collective bargaining for employees of their respective institutions, including graduate and undergraduate students who have teaching or research appointments, not covered by this chapter or by Chapter 28B.16 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. Section 14, chapter 250, Laws of 1971, ex.
Law, and RCW 42.30.140 are each amended to read as follows:

If any provision of this chapter conflicts with the provisions of any other statute, the provisions of this chapter shall control; PROVIDED,
That this chapter shall not apply to:

(1) The proceedings concerned with the formal issuance of an order granting, suspending, revoking, or denying any license, permit, or certificate to engage in any business, occupation, or profession or to any disciplinary proceedings involving a member of such business, occupation, or profession, or to receive a license for a sports activity or to operate any mechanical device or motor vehicle where a license or registration is necessary; or

(2) That portion of a meeting of a quasi-judicial body which relates to a quasi-judicial matter between named parties as distinguished from a matter having general effect on the public or on a class or group; ((cr))

(3) Matters governed by Title 34 RCW, the administrative procedure act, except as expressly provided in RCW 34.04.025 ((c)); or

(4) Meetings and actions relating to negotiations conducted pursuant
-9-
NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. If any provision of this 1973 amendatory act or the application thereof is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application and, to this end, any section, sentence, or word is declared to be severable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. Sections 1 through 14 of this 1973 amendatory act shall be referred to as the State Colleges and Universities Faculty Collective Bargaining Law.
