CENTRAL WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

VOLUME 36, NUMBER 1

ELLENSBURG, WASHINGTON

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1962

WHILE CARL TERZIAN SPEAKS ON THE TOPIC "No Time For the Timid" Dr. E. E. Samelson, dean of students, looks on with interest. Terzian's speech served to kick off the 1962 orientation activities.

1962 Orientation Week Plans Stress Academic Expansion

With the accent on orientation instead of initiation, Central's 1962 welcome week activities are rapidly coming to a close. Among the newer developments in this year's program are the student-led discussion groups developed with faculty help, and an extra day of classes on Thursday.

"I am very satisfied with the development of this year's activities especially with the faculty participation which I feel has been greater than in any other year. Although I realize that certain individuals and groups will not be satisfied with our ideas on how to best bring the freshmen into contact with college life I think that the majority of thinking students will see the benefits. What we are aiming for is a group of freshmen who will realize the challenges of college and accept them not a group of freshmen who lack purpose," said Dennis R. Hubbard, student chairman of the event.

Tour. Thursday was the first day of classes. The extra day of classes was originally put into the program at the suggestion of the faculty committee who felt that one day of classes on Friday was wasted. It also is expected to lead to an extra day at the end of the quarter for testing.

With the end of classes at 4 p.m. today students will still have many activities remaining. Tonight at 7:30 p.m. the 1962 Frosh talent show will be presented in the auditorium. At 9 p.m. there will be an all college dance in the ballroom, and there will be a dime movie following the talent show.

Merchants Welcome

Saturday the Ellensburg merchants will welcome the students with a community lunch at the Sprouse-Reitz parking lot downtown. At 1:30 p.m. the conference champion CWSC football team will meet the Pacific Lutheran squad at the athletic field. Saturday night will see a second performance of the talent show at 7:30, another dime movie following the talent show, and a second dance at 9 p.m. in the ballroom.

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank my committee composed of Sharon "Pete" Harrison and Tim McGillvary, talent show; Soren Sorenson, Tug-of-war; Jim Talbert, Publicity; and Ron Lundberg, general aide. I would also like to thank the dorm reps, the discussion leaders, the deans and faculty, the merchants of Ellensburg, and the service organizations all of whom did a fine job," Hubbard said.

This year's program was developed by a joint faculty-student committee. Activities were planned during Spring quarter of last year.

Book Sale Begins

The student book exchange will be open today only for the purchase of books from 9 a.m. to noon and from 2 until 5 p.m. It will also be open Monday through Wednesday of the next week from 1 to 5 p.m., Gordon Curtis, book exchange chairman said.

Students Find Housing Poor

Students at CWSC have discovered that there is a serious housing shortage. Due to the recent worker's strike the new men's house has been set back about two weeks from the originally planned completion date.

This fact, coupled with a record enrollment of students, has led to drastic measures as bunking in the basements at North Wilson Halls. The Pre-Fabs have been given overloads of students too, bringing their occupancy figures to sixty men in many places.

A bright spot in the near future is the completion of the new men's house. One wing should be completed in about three weeks, the other wing should be completed in three weeks after that. This would offer permanent housing for about 160 men, and bringing conditions somewhat back to normal. The men in the basement lodgings and the Pre-Fabs have first call on the new accommodations.

Pre-Fabs Remain
There is no plan to close the Pre-Fabs permanently according to the office of housing. However some of them may be temporarily closed during the winter to facilitate repair work.

The old Sue Lombard dining hall will be used as a banquet hall and will be repaired and restocked aid in this. Any group may use the hall and may get information on it by seeing Mr. Ayers in his office in the new Commons. This year's total on-campus housing figure is approximately 1500 students.

Speaker Program Announces Guests

Central's popular and well received program of speakers in the fall will continue this fall. It presents a wide range of speakers on several topics.

First in the series will be Dr. Herbert Taylor, Jr., who will speak on the topic, "Mating and Dating Habits of College Students," on Thursday, Oct. 11 in the CUB snack bar. On Thursday, Oct. 25,

Arthur Hicks will speak on "The Value of a Humanities Program." He will be followed by Donald W. Treadgold whose topic will be, "Is There Communism on American Campuses?" Treadgold will be featured on Wednesday, Nov. 7. The quarter will end with a program featuring George C. Fetter speaking on "A Trip Through the Soviet Union."

The first two speakers are on the faculty of Western Washington University at Bellingham. Treadgold teaches at the University of Washington, and Fetter is from Oregon State University at Corvallis, Oregon.

Crier Editors' Jobs Offered

Opportunities for fun, social advancement, and money are available to people interested in college journalism. The Crier needs new people to fill varied positions, two of which are paid.

For those interested in putting in a small amount of time and receiving a large amount of personal satisfaction and enjoyment there are numerous reporting jobs open. These positions are non-salaried but it is possible to receive three college credits toward a degree and, or, a journalism minor. In addition these positions are the gateway to salaried jobs if ability and interest so warrant.

The two paid positions open at the present time include copy editor which pays $7.50 per issue, and business manager which pays $12.50 per issue.

Sports Editor Howard Johnson asks that anyone interested in writing strictly sports drop in and see him at the Crier office which is on the second floor of the CUB across from the SGA office.

Reporting jobs may be gotten by simply dropping into the office, or by registering for English 262, practical journalism. The paid positions may be secured by submitting a letter of application to the Crier or to the advisor, Miss Bonnie Wiley at the music building. New editors will be selected by the editorial board composed of the present Crier staff, and the publications board.

Activities Start

Activities began on Sunday, Sept. 23, with an open house in the college union building followed by a reception in the CUB lounge. Tours of the campus were conducted during the afternoon for new students and their parents. Sunday activities wound up with a supper in old Commons and a welcoming assembly in the auditorium.

On Monday the highlight of the week's schedule was presented in the Nicholson pavilion where Mr. Carl Terzian, formerly of the University of Southern California, was guest speaker.

Freshmen attended several discussion groups held in various locations on campus where they considered the question of why they were in college. In the afternoon the frosh met with their advisors and made out their class schedules. Monday evening saw the beginning of dorm activities with constructive projects, and something, not so constructive but very entertaining activities which had been planned by the dorm councils.

Registration Begins

Tuesday saw a continuation of dorm activities along with the registration of the new students at Nicholson pavilion. Other Tuesday activities included the tug-of-war which was won by Stephens Hall, and the frosh mixer sponsored by the recreation club.

Wednesday was SGA day and while the upperclassmen registered new students attended the SGA assembly and a library orientation

President Welcomes Students Beginning 'Year Of Challenge'

Again it is my pleasure to join the administration, faculty, and staff in welcoming all students to a new year at Central Washington State College. We wish you success and satisfaction in your academic endeavors and we hope that your work this year will result in important gains for you.

There has never been a time in the seventy-one year history of Central when the faculty and administration had greater need for the assistance of a mature student body. I hope the reasons for this, which I will explain below, will encourage you to join with us this year as we continue our program to improve our college.

A Growing College

Central is no longer small. The administration, faculty, Civil Service, and student groups are all larger than ever before. The physical plant now includes 117 acres and 55 buildings and represents an investment of well over $15,000,000. A $9,000,000 building program started in 1959 is now being completed. The college will be requesting the 1963 legislature to appropriate over $8,000,000 for operations and $3,000,000 for capital improvements during the 1963-65 biennium.

Central is beginning its second year as a state college. Although its name reflects its geographical location, the college serves the whole state and not just the region. While it stresses the teacher education and the liberal arts and sciences, its curriculum is broad and is designed to serve many purposes.

The administration was reorganized during 1961-62 to fit the needs of an expanding institution. Instructional departments are now being organized to increase the effectiveness of the academic program. Several new majors and minors were established last year and many academic programs were revised and improved. Much planning is being done in anticipation of an enrollment increase during the next ten years that will equal or better the growth that the college has experienced in the last 71 years.

Gains New Respect

Central is rapidly gaining new respect in the state as the result of its increasing effectiveness, service and size. We are most anxious to speed this process, for we are proud of our college, and more importantly, we know that

CWS Boosts Parking Fees After State Refuses Monies

Parking fees for the 1962-63 school year have been set at $9 for all students with an additional three for summer quarter. Faculty members and employees who attend Central throughout the entire year will pay a fee of $12. In previous years there has been no charge for parking on the Central campus.

The decision to charge for parking was not an arbitrary decision of the college administration. In the past few years the Washington State Legislature has become increasingly unwilling to appropriate money for parking areas. It finally got to the point that it refused to do so.

Recognizing that the state colleges need money for parking, the Legislature passed House Bill 371 which makes it legal for the colleges to charge a fee for parking. With the money from these fees the school will eventually be able to use it to bond against and in that way accumulate still more money to obtain more and improve our present parking facilities. These fees will be used to eventually pay off these bonds.

Students may argue that a jump from $0 to $9 is an awfully big jump. There is also a rumor going around that none of the other schools in the state are paying that high a parking fee.

Nine dollars is not such a large amount for the construction and upkeep of good parking facilities, and the college has to have the money before the construction, and the results can come.

The rumor that none of the other colleges in the state have parking fees amounting to $9 is untrue. Under a study made by the administration it was found that Western Washington State College has a parking fee of $9 for students and $10 for the faculty. Eastern also plans to begin charging parking fees of $3 a quarter for students and $5 for faculty beginning this fall. Also both state universities charge parking fees, plus the University of Washington charges all visitors 50 cents a day.

Another advantage of this new way of getting funds is that the college will find it easier to plan projects in the area of parking for it will not have to wait on the whims of the Legislature and worry that on some economy move part of its funds will be cut.

All in all, the fee is a reasonable one which will allow Central more and better parking facilities in the future.

PRESIDENT WELCOMES

our efforts to improve the college will result in quality education for you.

In short, the college has reached the size and stage of development where it needs the respect and full support of everyone associated with it. It is on the threshold of a new era, and at the beginning of a new year of challenge.

It is most important that the student body use its full potential in assisting the college at this critical time in its history. We welcome you as partners in this enterprise. After all, the pride the faculty and administration have in Central is directed primarily to students, not to buildings and programs, for students will be the products of our education. The college is here to help students develop their full capacities as individuals. It is only logical to expect students to assist the college in reaching a greater level of effectiveness.

What role should the student body play? One of the most important claims to greatness this college could make would be through development of a highly mature and intelligent student body.

Mature Attitude Needed

The greatest assistance students can give this college is to approach this and coming years with a mature attitude about education. This is not only because our college is changing, for education is changing too.

Our country is making ever increasing demands on its citizens for higher levels of individual competence. You will graduate into a world where premiums are placed on individuality and creativity, not on winning friends and influencing people. You will be successful, and we will be proud of you to the degree to which you develop your individual capacities to the fullest while you are here. The degree you receive and the courses of study you follow in college will be meaningful to you in direct proportion to how meaningful you make them.

After you graduate you will discover that the world of work is filled with thousands who have college degrees. However, you will find only a few hundred who are ready to accept responsible citizenship to show the creativity, civic character, leadership, and command of knowledge that the times will demand.

Develop Full Potential

I urge you to adopt the attitude that you wish to use this college to develop your full potentials as individuals, that you intend to regard Central as a place where you expect to pick up the personal and intellectual equipment that you will need so badly in the years ahead. Develop a love for learning, a desire to give us real assistance at your profit as we continue to make this campus an exciting place where fresh thinking is encouraged and prized, where many ideas are discussed, where many books are read, and where creative interaction is a part of our daily lives.

Keep in mind that schools were devised originally to further the ideal of individual fulfillment. They assist you in an educational process that is largely self-directed; a process that you must show the desire, effort, and obligation to maintain throughout life.

Faculty Important

Of course this does not mean the faculty does not play an important role in your education. They have a great interest in you and they can and will help you. They will provide the assistance, the encouragement, the opportunities and the orientation in education. However, the motivation for growth must come from you.

Much of your learning should come from independent reading, from writing you want to do, from experiments of your own, from attending public lectures, debates and meetings, and from discussion with professors and other students outside the classroom. Be ready and willing to share the work in projects which will enhance and extend your own education; be anxious to join your student leaders in evaluating student organizations and activities to see whether they are designed to promote your education or just to occupy your time. Because education doesn't take place solely in classrooms, a student body such as yours should make use of its many excellent opportunities to conduct activities that are meaningful to the campus.

In the future, the roles you play as individuals and as a student body, the educational ideals you espouse, and your desires to help us build a great state college will have much to do with our success. Indeed, some say that no college can rise in stature beyond the level of the standards to which its students hold themselves. If we work together toward the right goals, in later years you will discover that your college experience has helped you to build a full and profitable life; we will be rewarded by knowing that our contributions to you were the most important investments we could have made in our society. We will

Conditions Cause 'Wailer's' Choice

To the Editor:

Some question has arisen as to the reasons behind my decision on bands for this year's homecoming dance. As many students know, at the close of Spring quarter arrangements had been made and contracts signed to have the Jimmy Dorsey orchestra under the direction of Lee Castle and also the Steve Laughery orchestra.

During early September I was notified by Lee Castle's personal agent that the music corporation of America, Castle's national agent, had been dissolved due to anti-trust regulations. Thus, the proposed northwest tour by the Dorsey orchestra was cancelled and we were unable to have the Jimmy Dorsey band perform.

Upon receiving this information I immediately called all of the booking companies we had contact with, inquiring on possible bands available on this date. The answer I received from all companies was negative, unless a band was flown up especially for the occasion to the tune of $2500 plus.

I had been in contact this summer with social chairmen from the University of Washington and Washington State University. The increased attendance at their homecomings necessitated more than one band. Among these extra bands has always been included a rock'n roll band. The reason behind this being the desire of the student governments to meet the various taste differences among college students.

Using this information as my criterion I proceeded to book "The Wailers," a versatile rock and roll band from Tacoma. This booking is a savings of $1100 in comparison with the originally planned expenses for the Jimmy Dorsey orchestra.

Students interested in dancing to the tremendous big band music of Steve Laughery may do so, and those wishing to patronize the sounds of "The Wailers" may also do so. Switching from dance to dance will be permitted at any time during the evening.

I hope the decision I reached in the selection of these orchestras will meet with the approval of Central students. I am looking forward to a bigger and better homecoming than ever before.

Sincerely,

Bob Moawad, Vice President
Student Government Association

Union Hours Set For Fall Opening

Hours for Central's CUB will remain as they have been in the past years for the first few weeks anyway, Charles Quann, director of the Union said.

The CUB will be open Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to midnight; Saturday, 10 a.m. to midnight; and Sunday, 1 until 11 p.m.

A new self service coffee bar has been installed just to the right of the exit in the snack bar. This coffee bar will not be used throughout the day, Quann said. It will be open during all the rush periods, however, to speed up the service in the snack bar.

No cigarettes or candy will be sold in the snack bar line from now on. There have been vending machines placed in the area, however from which students may get these articles.

both be proud of the roles we played in building an outstanding state college.

Year of Challenge

This year, then, is the beginning of a year of challenge for all of us. It is the time for us to show pride in this institution and support for its further development. It is the time for us to understand that each of us must bear much of the responsibility for our own education; time for us to be very grateful we may attend college and that we have on this campus unparalleled opportunities for learning, and time for us to realize that the rewards for learning are almost without number in this rapidly changing and highly competitive world.

Steam Blasts College Store

Repair of the College Bookstore, scene of a steam pipe explosion last July, is complete except for the ceiling which will be replaced between fall and winter quarters.

Damage within the building itself was mostly to the ceiling which was acoustic tile that became saturated with steam and collapsed.

It is believed that a pipe from the steam heating plant that runs under the building exploded about 5 a.m. in the mechanical part of the bookstore, allowing steam to saturate the store before it was discovered at 8 a.m. by Adrian Craig, night watchman.

Top Films Shown On Campus Yield Much Enjoyment

On September 28, "Demetrius and the Gladiators" starring Victor Mature will be seen in the College auditorium following the talent show. The story centers around the conversion to Christianity of a Greek slave whose prowess in the Roman arena helped establish a new religion in the barbarian world. Also featured are Michael Rennie, Susay Hayward and Deborah Paget.

Immediately following the talent show on Saturday night, "Tight Little Island" will be shown in the College auditorium. It is a satirical film which deals with the problems that arise on a little Scottish island when a shortage of whiskey occurs. It stars Basil Radford and Joan Greenwood.

On Friday, October 5, two Walt Disney movies will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in the auditorium. "Bear Country" is a photographic coverage of the giant North American Black Bear of the Rocky Mountain area. "Water Birds" gives rare glimpses into the behavior of seaside and marshland feathered creatures.

Saturday, October 6, Alan Ladd heads an all star cast in a tale of marines trapped in the snowy hills of Korea. The drama is mainly concerned with what happens when men are torn apart by their own fears, doubts, and prejudices. It will be shown at 7 p.m. At 9 p.m. Brigitte Bardot stars in a comedy, "Babette Goes to War," playing a sexy British spy who is parachuted into occupied France to help capture an enemy general.

Council Capsule

Council Argues Band Question

The Jimmy Dorsey Band, which had been signed to play at one of the two Homecoming dances, cancelled and in its place the "Wailers" have been signed to play. Bob Moawad, SGA vice president said. Steve Laughery and his band will play at the other dance.

After a discussion of the situation by the council it was decided that there was nothing that could be done since the contract had already been signed. (For a complete explanation of the situation leading to the "Wailer's" contract read Moawad's letter in the "Letters to the Editor" section of the paper.)

Council Passes Motion

A motion was passed by the council to give complimentary tickets to different events to the Alumni board, Board of Trustees, the faculty and their families and different special guests which may be on campus.

Under this program the Trustees and the members of the Alumni Board would receive tickets which would be good for all SGA sponsored activities. The tickets for the faculty would be good for all seasonal sports, drama, and music programs. Special tickets would be given for specific events to special guests.

Under an addition to the motion by Munro, the power to cut the number of complimentary tickets to any given event was given to SGA.

Barrus stated that students wish-

MICK BARRUS

Barrus Presents SGA's Activities

Dear Fellow Centralites,

On behalf of Bob Moawad, President; Dick Jacobson, Treasurer; Pat Johnson, Secretary; and myself, we would like to welcome returning students back to the Alma Mater and to all new students a cordial welcome and best wishes for a fine and profitable year.

Student Government has become concerned with the meaning and mission of higher education during the past year and to enrich your education, SGA has and will continue to plan events to supplement the everyday learning situation. Fundamentally, higher education charged with responsibility to transmit the cultural heritage, to push back the frontiers of knowledge, to draw out the latent talents of youth, to be part of the answer to domestic and international problems, rather than part of these problems, and Student Government hopes to strengthen these fundamentals.

We have made plans for an educational as well as an entertaining year for you and we sincerely hope you will take advantage of these offerings. The highly successful Speaker in the Union program will continue with entertaining as well as provocative subjects and speakers presenting their views to be discussed and debated between students and faculty. Efforts are being made to secure Republican and Democratic aspirants before the November 6th election so students may become more familiar with the issues and the candidates of the present campaign. Of course we can all look forward to another outstanding symposium which last year won the support and enthusiasm of the entire intellectual community.

Looking to the social side of the college year, your SGA has made plans to bring to you a program of fun, excitement and enjoyment. The "dime movie" program will continue as well as a line of big name entertainment. The Four Preps will start the year with a concert to be held October 24. Other big name attractions are being considered and with your support some of the top names in entertainment can be secured for your pleasure.

This year the SGA will work with approximately $104,000 of your money. We sincerely hope you will take the interest to see that this money is spent in your behalf. By attending any SGA meeting or by speaking with your SGA representative your thoughts and desires can be presented to for the most careful consideration.

Again welcome and we sincerely hope to work with each and every one of you throughout the coming year.

Sincerely,

Mick Barrus
SGA President

ing to serve on SGA committees should contact the executive officers in the SGA office and sign up. Those committees needing members are: the Assembly committee, Campus Beautification, College Union Board, Traffic, and Student Welfare committees. Positions are also open on the Publications Board, Athletic committee, Student Faculty Judiciary Board, and the Campus Site and Development committees.

Students may also serve on the Election committee, Finance, and Social committees and as Chamber Commerce representative. Students wishing to hold these positions should apply as soon as possible.

Pigskin Time Arrives

Wildcats Play League Opener Tomorrow As PLU Invades

The Knights from Pacific Lutheran University visit the Wildcat den tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. for Centrals first league game of the season. Winning only one conference game last Fall, the Knights will have a new head coach in Roy Carlson, former assistant at Washington State.

Main problem for Carlson, who has been under an aerial offense influence at WSU, will be to replace Pacific Lutheran's pass-and-catch combination of quarterback Doug McClary, fifth leading passer in the nation and end Dave Bottemiller, seventh leading pass receiver among the small colleges.

Twenty-two Lettermen
Leading the squad that includes 22 lettermen are fullback Keith Shahan and halfback Billy White. Outstanding lineman is Norm Jugert, All-Conference guard.

Not only will the Knights have a new coach, but a new multiple-T offense.

Coach Adrian "Bink" Beamer will have 15 returning lettermen on hand for tomorrows battle and will probably field a starting team of 8 lettermen and three newcomers.

Leading the defending 61 Evergreen Conference Champs this year will be All-Conference Quarterback Phil Fitterer, a home town product who scored two touchdowns in the win last week. Big Dick Kihart, 230 pound All-Conference guard is one of the mainstays of the Wildcat line.

Other talented returnees include

Art Ellis, a standout end last year; Arnie Tyler, 222 pound tackle out for his fourth varsity football letter; Jay Haney, a senior guard; Halfback Bill Ishida, a former Seattle All-City star at Garfield Hi and the smallest and fastest team member (5-2, 140 pounds), and Keith Paine a fullback selected outstanding freshman football player last year and Central's estra point man. Bill went three for three in last weeks game.

Promising newcomers to the squad include Chapin Henry, a 180 pound center from Seattle and a starter last week; Lou Lawrence a freshman end who also started in the Wildcats first season game and Don Zimmer a 175 pound junior from Wapato.

Flag Football Will Kick Off Intramurals

Campus "Civil War" breaks out Oct. 9 when classmate meets classmate on the intramural football "battlefield."

Tom Anderson, Men's Intramural Association director, announced recently that all men's dorms, living groups and off-campus groups should begin immediately organizing their team or teams for the first intramural activity of the year, flag football.

An important meeting of living group sports representatives will be held Wednesday, Oct. 3 in room 116 of the pavilion at 4:15 p.m. Anderson noted that all groups who wish to have teams in the flag football league must have a representative at this meeting.

Any individual who wishes to play and is not approached by a group may obtain an individual entry blank from Anderson in the pavilion. A team will be made up from these names.

"KEEP YOUR TAILS DOWN" Wildcat head football coach A. L. "Bink" Beamer instructs two varsity players on the finer points of the game. Beamer is in this second year as head mentor of the team. Last year Central won the Evergreen Conference Championship.

Season Opener Victory As Wildcats Trample Whitman

An alert defense paved the way to a 21-0 victory by Central over Whitman College last Saturday at Walla Walla. The game was the season opener for both clubs and was a non-league contest; Central being defending Evergreen Conference champion, and Whitman a member of the Northwest Conference.

This was the second shutout in as many years by the Wildcats over Whitman. The score last year was 19-0. The Wildcats scored all three of their touchdowns after capitalizing on Whitman miscues.

Wildcats Score

A Whitman fumble on the first offensive play of the game set up Central's first scoring drive. Led by fullback Keith Payne, who pounded out gains of 11, 10 and 8 yards, the Wildcats scored on nine plays with all-conference quarterback Phil Fitterer going over from the one. Payne added the extra point, his first of three.

Central scored again in the third quarter after recovering a fumble on the Whitman 44. Fitterer took to the air on this drive, completing passes of 21 yards to end Wayne Hurt, 11 yards to end Art Ellis, and 15 yards to halfback Don Zimmer. Fleet halfback Bill Ishida scored from the one.

Fitterer Intercepts

An intercepted Whitman pass by Fitterer in the fourth quarter and a 15 yard clipping penalty against the Whits gave the Wildcats the ball on their own 37 yard line. With Fitterer paving the way with a 15 yard dash, Central marched 63 yards in seven plays. Fitterer culminated the march with a 29 yard touchdown run.

Officials Needed

Student officials will be used for all intramural activities and anyone interested in officiating should contact Tom Anderson at WA 5-6577 or the MIA office in the pavilion. The pay is $1.50 per game and students may officiate at as many games as they are able to handle.

Swim Team Hopefuls Should Contact Coach

Anyone interested in trying out for the varsity swim team is asked to contact Coach Tom Anderson in the pavilion immediately. Anderson points out that while competitive swimming experience is desirable, it is not absolutely necessary.

A good competitive schedule is in store for Coach Anderson, who is in his first year of coaching at Central, and the swim team. Meets against Eastern, Western, UPS and the University of British Columbia will provide the squad with competition. These are all home and away dual meets with the conference meet scheduled for late February at Eastern Washington State College.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE OF INTRAMURAL EVENTS

- Friday, Sept. 28
Individual and team entry blanks may be picked up for flag football. (MIA office in pavilion).
- Wednesday, Oct. 3
Sport representatives meeting of living groups (on and off campus). Rm. 116, pavilion at 4:15.
- Friday, Oct. 5
Last day to submit flag football entries (4 p.m.).
- Tuesday, Oct. 9
Flag Football league play starts at 4 p.m. sharp.
- Friday, Oct. 19
Individual and team entries may be picked up at the MIA Office for volleyball and cross-country entries for singles and doubles in table tennis may also be picked up at this time.

SPORTACUS

BY HOWARD JOHNSON

Pick an adjective; powerful, sensational, outstanding; you name it and it would probably well describe this year's Wildcat football squad. This team needs no fancy buildup; however, the cold hard facts speak loud and clear. Last year Central won the Evergreen Conference championship. This year things look just as good. Several football magazines have picked Central to once again win the championship.

No coach likes to have his team picked as the favorite. When you're at the top there is only one direction you can go—down. The favorite is the team other teams "shoot" for. It has happened many times where a below average team will work itself up emotionally for the "big game" against the favorite and play much better than it usually does, while in the process quite often pulling a major upset. A good example of this would be the rivalry between Washington State University and the University of Washington. When these two teams meet, season records often mean very little; same holds true for the Army-Navy game each year.

A few years ago a Rose Bowl bound Husky team met a Cougar eleven which was winding up a poor season. It took an injured Don McKeta coming off the bench in the closing minutes of the game to win it for the University of Washington.

Now I'm not saying that each and every team the Wildcats meet this season will put up a fierce battle but what I do contend is that pre-season predictions have a funny habit of coming back to haunt those who endeavor to forecast the future.

Central will be the team to beat this year but look for some tough battles . . . you don't win ball games by being "picked" as the winner.

Sports Illustrated magazine did a fine article on small college football teams in one of its recent issues. Entitled "The Small Colleges, Portrait of a Growth Industry," the article gave a run-down on some of the better small college teams in the nation. Central is absent from the list of West Coast small colleges but maybe it's a good thing. Whitworth is given several inches of story space and was rated as quite a power, which it is. The Whitworth squad may have received the "Sports Illustrated Jinx" since it was soundly defeated last Saturday by Fresno State 48-7. This Fresno State squad last year played several major colleges. It beat San Jose State which in turn beat Washington State. Sports Illustrated rates Fresno as the second best small college team in the nation behind Florida A & M.

A good home crowd is a great asset to any team. Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 the Wildcats meet Pacific Lutheran University here. It promises to be an action packed game. If last week's Central-Whitman game is any indication, there will be plenty of passing and long runs. Spend an enjoyable Saturday afternoon with your friends watching and rooting, as Central plays its first league game of the season. See you there.

CWS Initiation Becomes Orientation As Freshmen Begin College Year

DORM MEETINGS PROVIDE A MEANS FOR STUDENTS to air their views on all types of subject matter from personal problems, such as dorm noise, to administration policy. Freshmen soon find the value of attendance at such meetings.

FROSH ORIENTATION POLICIES ARE DISCUSSED by Dr. E. E. Samuelson, dean of students, and Dennis Hubbard, 1962 orientation chairman. Plans for next year's frosh orientation are already beginning to develop on the foundation provided by the 1962 activities.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER FOR THIS YEAR'S ACTIVITIES was Paul Terzian of the National Student Association, and formerly a student at U.S.C. Terzian's delayed speech was given Monday to a large group of students and faculty at Nicholson pavilion.

AMONG THE HUNDREDS OF STUDENTS ATTENDING Carl Terzian's speech were old, as well as new, faces. Several faculty members were also in attendance at the Monday morning meeting aimed at making new students see the challenges and opportunities of college. Scheduling difficulties led to a later than originally planned time.
