Senators: All senators or their alternates were present except: Virginia Bennett, Anthony Diaz, Jason Irwin, Rodrigo Murataya, Don Nixon, Robert Pritchett, David Rawlinson, Allyson Scoville, Matthew Wilson,

Visitors: Michael Ogden, Kathy Temple, Sheryl Grunden, Marla Wyatt, Laura Milner

CHANGES TO AND APPROVAL OF AGENDA – Approved as presented.

MOTION NO. 11-13(Approved): APPROVAL OF MINUTES of November 30, 2011

COMMUNICATIONS - None

FACULTY ISSUES - None

PRESIDENT – President is out of town.

PROVOST – Provost Levine reported that she is finding a home for General Education and is looking to have a half-time coordinator so there can be leadership for the vision. The SEOIs implementation will reside within the Provost division through Dr. Pellett and Tom Henderson. The Provost indicated she will be starting a professional development center. She will be working on getting a coordinator for this center. She is very close to making the decision to abolish the print catalog. She is working on the academic calendar for 2013-14. Waiting for input from Jesse Nelson on how the students feel about these issue, as well as waiting for recommendation from the SOURCE committee as well as advising. Student Success is in the final process of reorganization. They are working on the organizational chart and by the end of February the organization should be in place. Provost Levine gave kudos to TEACH and the music program for recruiting international students. The Academic Planning Task force is on target and she is hearing good reports from the Deans. Provost Levine is working on meeting with all four colleges, student success and VFA in an open 90 minute session with a brief 10-15 minute speech. She would like the faculty and staff to know what is happening and an opportunity to ask questions. The Provost indicated she has direct report performance plans in place. She will be doing mid-term evaluations for each of her direct reports.

Commencement/Honors Convocation – Sandy Colson/Linda Schactler – Linda and Sandy provided a handout for the Senators (available for review in the Faculty Senate office). Linda indicated that the President’s cabinet asked the individuals who organize commencement and honors convocation to look at what we are currently doing and try and focus it more on students and to connect student success at all levels. The group met in August and has met a couple of times during the fall. They have come to several conclusions. One, this is a very large subject and two it really needs to have more input. There will be a Task Force developed to take a more in-depth look at both commencement and honors convocation for 2012. They are looking at making some smaller changes this spring. Honors convocation has gotten longer each year. The committee’s recommendation is to focus more on students and honor some of the others elsewhere to help shorten it up. Another recommendation is to ring students and faculty in by college at convocation. Sandy asked that any input be sent to her colsons@cwu.edu or Linda at schactler@cwu.edu or x-1384.

OLD BUSINESS

REPORTS/ACTION ITEMS

SENATE COMMITTEES:

Academic Affairs Committee – Chair Marla Wyatt reported that the committee will be meeting tomorrow for their first meeting this quarter and will be getting up to speed on their current charges.
Bylaw and Academic Code Committee – Chair Gary Bartlett reported that the committee met once last quarter due to some scheduling difficulties. They will be meeting this week. One of the main charges they are working on is to try and incorporate scholarly misconduct language into the dispute resolution process in the current Academic Code.

Curriculum Committee – Chair Kathy Temple reported the committee is working their way through stacks of curriculum proposals. The deadline for curriculum proposals is January 27th. The committee will be looking at policy language and standardizing curriculum terms after the majority of curriculum proposals are processed.

Motion No. 11-14(Failed) [Hand count: 11 yea, 22 nay, 6 abstentions]: “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Quantitative Research Methodology and Analysis – Type A Certificate as shown in Exhibit A.”

Motion No. 11-15(Approved, 2 abstentions): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Professional Sommelier Certificate - Type C Certificate as shown in Exhibit B.”

Motion No. 11-16(Approved, 1 nay, 1 abstention): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Screenwriting Minor as shown in Exhibit C.”

Motion No. 11-17(Approved, 1 nay 1 abstention): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Screenwriting Specialization as shown in Exhibit D.”

Motion No. 11-18(Tabled): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new B.S. Recreation and Tourism Specialization in Event Planning as shown in Exhibit E.”

Motion No. 11-21(Approved): Senator Čuljak moved to table the Motion 11-18 to allow time for the Communication department to work with the FCS department to get concerns addressed.

Motion No. 11-19(Approved, 10 abstentions): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Event Planning Minor as shown in Exhibit F.”

Motion 11-22(Failed, 4 abstentions): Senator Kerns moved to table the Motion No. 11-19.

Motion No. 11-20(Approved 4 abstentions): “Accept Curriculum Committee’s recommendation to approve a new Jazz Pedagogy Graduate Cognate as shown in Exhibit G.”

CHAIR: Chair Loverro encouraged faculty to attend the internationalization forum from 3-5 in the SURC ballroom. Provost Levine has traveled and recruited and made the first contacts, and she is now leaving it to the faculty as to what these partnerships will look like. These are not a top down decision.

CHAIR-ELECT: No report

STUDENT REPORT: Kelsey reported that the Student Academic Senate (SAS) met last week and went very well. They are looking at creating several sub committees on textbooks and curriculum. They are still trying to get more student senators as their goal is to get all departments represented. Richard DeShields is their new advisor.

NEW BUSINESS - Senator Čuljak asked if the Faculty Senate would establish days and times for Faculty Senate committees to meet. It is hard for faculty to attend meetings when the set date and/or time changes each quarter. Senator Herman brought forward a concern regarding the Library Advisory Committee that has been abolished. He asked if Faculty Senate would consider this issue and encourage the library to allow faculty to have a voice in library policy planning and function. His recommendation would be for the Faculty Senate to create a library committee that answers to Faculty Senate rather than the Provost or the Dean.

Meeting was adjourned at 4:38

This certificate is intended to expose students to the terminology and methods of the various disciplines. Such a certificate is intended to serve those students pursuing entry-level research positions and graduate school.

Required Courses:
MATH 130-Finite Math............................................. 5
MATH 311-Statistical Concepts................................. 5
MATH 410A-Advanced Statistics I......................... 3
LIB 345-Library Research Methods and Informational Literacy.... 4
PSY 300-Research Methods in Psychology..................... 5
POSC 312-Public Opinion & Political Communication..... 5
Any 400-level research course which has as a culminating........ 3 or more experience a presentation to an audience outside of their classroom

Certificate Program Total Credits: 30

Additional Notes:
A cumulative GPA of 3.0 must be earned in the program to be eligible for the certificate. The Math Department will consider course substitution petitions for courses like BUS 221 (Introductory Business Statistics) or PSY 362 (Introductory Statistics) as a substitute for Math 311 if the student demonstrates a history of competence in mathematical courses. Traditional research classes are preferred for the 400-level research course, but may include more individually tailored experiences like directed research, honors thesis, etc. as long as a professional presentation to clients, conference attendees, etc. are included in the credit earned.

This form must accompany your proposal.
If it is not complete, the proposal and summary page will be returned to the originator.

1. Provide a justification for the creation of this program. (How will this program enhance the curriculum of your department/college and the university? What specific needs is (are) being addressed that is (are) not being met in other programs?) Additional pages may be used.

The purpose of the Interdisciplinary Studies: Certificate in Social Science Quantitative Research Methodology and Analysis is to provide an interdisciplinary curriculum to any CWU student, no matter their major, a sufficient background in statistics as well as quantitatively driven primary data collection strategies (survey construction, polling, experimental design), as well as secondary data collection strategies. CWU has great interest in fostering undergraduate research agendas, not only in the physical sciences but also in the social sciences. Currently few, if any, departments have the capacity in terms of faculty staffing and/or sufficient student interest, to offer a truly in-depth curriculum devoted to a wide variety of social science methodologies and statistics. Such a certificate offers an opportunity to students to pursue a documentable curriculum in primarily quantitatively driven research courses.

2. Attach a clean copy of the catalog narrative and program requirements.

3. Please indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in your department/college and the university. Is this program replacing a deleted program or is it adding to your program offerings? If it is an additional program, how will the program be staffed? How many students do you expect to enroll in the new program over the next 5 years? How will FTE's be affected in existing programs? Is there long-term support for the program in terms of staffing and funding? Will the program impact enrollments in other departments or colleges, etc.? Additional pages may be used.

At this point, it is expected that less than 5 students per year will pursue this certificate thus impact is anticipated to be minimal. All of the courses in the certificate are pre-existing and in many cases, students will already be taking at least one of the courses as a part of their regular major.

1. Provide a justification for the creation of this program. (How will this program enhance the curriculum of your department/college and the university? What specific need(s) is (are) being addressed that is (are) not being met in other programs?) Additional pages may be used.

The CWU Sommelier Professional Certificate will be offered as part of the Global Wine Studies academic program. Currently the GWS program does not address wine and other beverage pairing with food and service techniques at dining establishments. Currently in the U.S., approximately 50% of all wine is consumed in restaurants, but graduates must also possess knowledge of other alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages. Having this knowledge will help graduates of this Certificate obtain positions in the industry. There are no other Sommelier programs in Eastern Washington. Utilizing methods and techniques from the International Sommelier Guild and the Court of Master Sommeliers, this Certificate will be recognized in the beverage industry nationally and internationally.

2. Attach a clean copy of the catalog narrative and program requirements.

3. Please indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in your department/college and the university. Is this program replacing a deleted program or is it adding to your program offerings? If it is an additional program, how will the program be staffed? Is there long-term support for the program in terms of staffing and funding? Will the program impact enrollments in other departments or colleges, etc.? Additional pages may be used.

The Professional Sommelier Certificate will add to the current Global Wine Studies curriculum offerings. The current curriculum does not include food pairing and restaurant service which is a major part of the beverage industry. The program will be staffed by existing faculty and a lecturer in Continuing Education with a degree in Hospitality. The expected enrollment in year one is 10 students with a goal of 30 by year five. Students in the current Wine Trade Professional Certificate and BS in Global Wine Studies will act as feeders to enhance their skill set. The Sommelier Certificate will be self-supported through the Office of Continuing Education and also marketed to the beverage community.

Screenwriting Minor

The screenwriting minor offers students a solid foundation in traditional screenplay format, conventional cinematic storytelling, theoretical approaches to screenwriting, adaptation of other media to the screen and screenwriting for non-traditional story structures.

Film and video studies majors specializing in production or critical studies who wish to add the screenwriting minor may not use these courses to satisfy elective requirements in their specializations.

1. Provide a justification for the creation of this program. (How will this program enhance the curriculum of your department, college, and the university? What specific needs is it being addressed that is not being met in other programs?) Additional pages may be used.

The Screenwriting minor will encourage students specializing in Film and Video Studies Production or Critical Studies to further develop valuable skills in writing for the screen. Filmmakers and scholars of film benefit from such studying and writing screenplays. This minor will give a solid foundation in screenplay format, conventional dramatic storytelling, theoretical approaches to screenwriting, adapting other mediums to the screen, and screenwriting for non-traditional story structures. This minor will complement the new Screenwriting specialization in TV & Digital Media concentrations offered in this unique medium. Numerous students from in and outside FVS have inquired about a potential minor in this area. Students pursuing careers in other disciplines of film and video who choose to minor in Screenwriting will add a valuable skill set that will serve them both creatively and professionally. Students outside of the Film and Video Studies program—Teacher and Creative Writing majors, as well as artists of any genre or medium who will also benefit from the skills and knowledge offered in this minor.

2. Attach a clean copy of the catalog narrative and program requirements.

3. Please indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in your department, college, and the university. (Is this program replacing a deleted program or is it adding to your program offerings? If it is an additional program, how will the program be staffed? Is there long-term support for the program in terms of staffing and funding? Will the program impact enrollments in other departments or colleges, etc.) Additional pages may be used.

The Screenwriting minor is based upon student demand and is complementary to existing programs. The courses for the minor already exist, so the impact on the IWS program and affiliated departments (namely, Communication, English, and Theater) is relatively minimal. Present Faculty FTEs already exist to cover the courses without any added burden. Several students from in and outside the FVS major have expressed serious interest in declaring the minor this year. We project the minor will begin with around 5-10 students, and reach a sustainable population of around 20 students within five years.

NEW SPECIALIZATION

Screenwriting Specialization

Students who elect to pursue the screenwriting specialization will learn the key elements of creating scripts for film, serial media (TV, Webisodes, Mobisodes), and video games. Starting with the fundamentals, students will focus on story structure, plot, scene development, characterization and dialogue. As students advance through the required and elective courses, they will begin to hone their voice through a series of writing assignment designed to guide students toward mastering the basics of narrative storytelling in an environment designed to simulate the world of the professional screenwriter.

To complete the learning experience and help students prepare for the job market, all students pursuing the screenwriting specialization are expected to compile a portfolio. COM 327 "Scriptwriter in Development & Production" and FVS 489 "Senior Colloquium" are designed to facilitate this goal. Those students wishing to continue on to graduate film school may also want to complete an independent scriptwriting project. FVS 492 "Practicum," and FVS 496 "Individual Study" are designed to fill this role.

1. Provide a justification for the creation of this program. How will this program enhance the curriculum of your department/college and the university? What specific need(s) is (are) being addressed that is (are) not being met by other programs? Additional pages may be used.

CWU's Film & Video Studies Program (FVS) is already seen as a "high demand" major and one of the fastest growing programs at the university attracting top students from throughout the Pacific Northwest. Feedback from students and graduates as a result of annual program assessments have shown a marked increase in demand for more courses in screen writing as well as a desire of many students to actually concentrate in this field. Creating a new "Screenwriting" specialization is seen as a natural fit with the expertise of the faculty within the program and is logical, "low to no cost" avenue for growth.

2. Attach a clean copy of the catalog narrative and program requirements.

3. Please indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in your department/college and the university. Is this program replacing a deleted program or is it adding to your program offerings? If it is an additional program, how will the program be staffed? How many students do you expect to enroll in the new program over the next 5 years? How will FTE's be affected in existing programs? Is there long-term support for the program in terms of staffing and funding? Will the program impact enrollments in other departments or colleges, etc.? Additional pages may be used.

FVS has grown from 14 majors and 3 graduates in Winter 2007 to 30 majors and 35 graduates Spring 2011! Along with this rapid growth, has come student demand for a Screenwriting specialization to partner with the existing Critical Studies and Production specializations. Staffing for the 8 additional courses (of which 2 are new, 3 of existing courses and 3 on alternate year rotations) are easily accommodated with existing program faculty. It is expected that, initially, all current FVS students will shift into the new specialization with a possible (though minimal) shifting of declared majors from COM and ENG. Expected student numbers are anticipated to be around 8-10 in the first year growing to around 25-30 within 5 years. At this point, no budget impact is anticipated since most of the courses already exist and are presently being taught. But, as the FVS program itself continues to grow, additional faculty will need to be recruited to meet increasing demand.

Question 1: Justification for the creation of the this program: EVENT PLANNING SPECIALIZATION

We are pleased to have this opportunity to inform about the intent and content of the Recreation and Tourism (RT) program. RT was the first such degree in the state. Begun in 1947, RT has long offered two major specializations: Tourism Management, and Recreation Management (as well as minors). RT averages 140 majors, 35 minors, and 50 graduates a year. Within the field, (the two specializations of) recreation and tourism continue to grow closer together. The overlapping link between them is often “events.” Events already play a large part in RT curriculum. The goal of this proposal is to formalize this direction and fulfill strong student interest by packaging that content into a specialization, Event Planning.

Meeting, Convention, and Event Planners (a Bureau of Labor SOC classification) enjoy a growth industry worldwide. Kittitas County Economic Development has identified events as a driver of the regional tourism economy. A private convention center is being built in Ellensburg. Careers in the recreation and tourism fields require event planning as a routine or occasional task. In preparing students for this task, the RT program is a leader in service learning and civic engagement events both on campus and in the community. All RT faculty members are Academic Service Learning Distinguished Faculty Fellows.

Some RT alumni and interns work in the multibillion dollar conventions and hospitality sector (e.g., at Microsoft, Columbia Hospitality, Destination Resorts and many other lodging establishments, event centers and venues, convention and visitor bureaus) while others emphasize recreational events at city departments of parks and recreation or community development. Toward this end, RT’s course offerings have long included both hospitality event related courses (RT 309, 373D, 374, 405) as well as courses related to recreational event planning (RT 222, 381, 384). Event planning skills are also offered in FCSG 230, 320, 420.

At universities here and abroad, degree specialties (concentrations) in event planning are well established under the hospitality, tourism, and recreation umbrella. Programs exist at top, doctorate-granting universities. Some well-known examples of event planning programs are:
- Undergrad, master and doctorate level study in “Event and Meeting Management,” and “Sports and Event Management” at George Washington University under Department of Tourism and Hospitality Management within the School of Business;
- Undergrad and graduate degrees in “Tourism and Events Management” at George Mason U within the School of Recreation, Health, and Tourism under Hospitality Management;
- “Event Planning & Management” concentration - BS Recreation, Parks, and Tourism Administration at Cal Poly;
- UNLV Harrah College of Hotel Administration’s “Meeting and Event Management” to the doctorate level;
- Similar programs are well established under the field of hospitality, tourism and recreation at numerous other institutions including Northeastern U, Grand Valley, Temple, Johnson & Wales, and so on.

Tenured and adjunct RT faculty are experienced event planners and coordinators. As a Community Events & Recreation Director at the county level, Ken Cohen planned 100 community cultural events a year for 7 years, including festivals attended by 30,000. Barb Masberg created and chaired the Tourism Institute annual conference 2001-09 and has worked events in hospitality. Dorothy Chase chaired conventions for professional associations (CITC, IABC – Intl Association Business Communicators) and chairs an annual community event where funds raised operate a county tourism attraction. Rob Perkins has chaired both community and thousand member statewide professional events. As city recreation professionals, adjuncts Jodi Hoctor, Jeff Hagler and Jeff Zeiger have coordinated countless festivals, sports tournaments, and events. RT is connected to many kinds of events.

RT participates in professional development through the International Festival and Events Association (IFEA), Washington and National Recreation and Parks Association (WPRA, NRPA), Washington Lodging Association, and the Washington Tourism Alliance. In Fall 2011, faculty and 20+ students attended the Northwest Event Show; Event Camp Vancouver 2011, event seminars at NRPA; and offered students regular webinars through IFEA. In Winter 2012, RT faculty will attend a one week Event Management School: the joint sponsorship of this inaugural training by two discrete professional associations, NRPA and IFEA, is an excellent example of the growing link between recreation and hospitality/tourism around events.

RT is already “internationalized” in terms of content and students, and is preparing for two or more Asian cohorts in 2012 or 2013. “MICE” [Meetings Incentives Conventions Expositions] is a growth industry in Asia, as it is here, and it is expected that this specialization will add an additional appeal. Some of the RT students traveling to Australia in 2012 will intern as event planners in agencies.

This event proposal has been suggested, reviewed, modified, and approved by the RT Advisory Board whose members represent municipal parks and recreation departments, the lodging industry, an event planning office of a large organization, and a destination management organization [see attached letters of support]. These individuals on the Advisory Board are representative of the managers who host our interns and hire our graduates.

Question 3: Indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in the department/college and the university.

* The Event Planning Specialization will essentially formalize a popular track that has existed within the RT degree. As a degree holder with this specialization, the graduate should enjoy increased clarity of goals and credentials when seeking practicums, internships, and careers.
* There are currently 4 tenured faculty who cover RT courses (and FCSG courses that are taught within RT)
* Historically, about 15 credits of adjunct teaching is done by professionals in the region
* The program will be staffed by current RT faculty and only one new courses will be introduced (RT 485)
* All required courses are taught in RT. Many current RT/FCSG core courses include aspects of event planning as a part of the curriculum
* Some elective options are provided by other departments (COM, NUTR, TH)
* Our expectation is that about 35 Majors will choose this specialization (175 over 5 years). This is based on numbers choosing the current RT 374 Festivals and Events course (maximum 49 in Spring 2011) and students’ worksite choices for their practicums and internships
* FTE's should be affected positively
* Support for the RT program is expected to remain strong
* A full spectrum of event planning skills is not offered in any other program or department.
* The only impact foreseen on other programs is a positive one in that it may provide a complementary second major for smaller majors
* Some students currently electing the tourism specialization will likely switch to the event planning specialization

Question 1: Justification for the creation of this program:
EVENT PLANNING MINOR

The Recreation and Tourism (RT) major currently consists of two specializations: Recreation Management Specialization, and Tourism Management Specialization. There are parallel minors: Recreation Management Minor, and Tourism Management Minor. (There is also a minor that crosses over with GWS, the Wine Trade and Tourism Minor). There are typically 35-40 minors in RT. With the introduction of Event Planning, RT wishes to retain this same structure of offering both a major specialization, and a minor.

As discussed under the Event Planning Major Specialization proposal, there is both a strong interest in event planning and a strong demand for it. Event planning as a full-time occupation has been on the increase over the past decade, giving rise to start-ups of event planning companies and event centers/venues. As well, professionals in varied fields find themselves responsible for planning and producing large and small events occasionally on behalf of their organizations. Still others lead fund-raising events for non-profit causes as part of their own community service. As a result of strong connections with a wide range of both for-profit and community agencies, RT can direct students to relevant volunteer and practicum experiences. With varying degrees of interest and involvement in events, then, minors could originate from a variety of majors.

It is expected that the Event Planning Minor (26 credits) would interest majors in programs such as Global Wine Studies (51 credits); BAS Food Service Management (61 credits); Communications (75 credits); Public Relations (75 credits); the arts; Business Administration, Administrative Management, and others.

A full spectrum of event planning skills is not offered in another program. Enthusiastic support was expressed by departments offering courses as electives (ADMG, COM, MKT).
Question 3: Indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in the department/college and the university.

*The Event Planning Minor is a new addition to the Recreation and Tourism program offerings; however only one new course is proposed for both the specialization and the minor: RT 485 Events Administration at 4 credits. A minor may increase some class sizes without requiring new sections.
*The minor can be staffed by current RT faculty and all required courses (except 485) are currently taught in RT
* Some suggested electives are provided by other departments (ADMG, COM, MKT)
*Our expectation is an enrollment of 15–20 Minors (75–100 over 5 years) based on typical minor numbers
*FTE's should not be affected negatively in any program.
*RT generally has 35-40 Minors, drawn from Global Wine Studies, Public Relations, Communications, and others. Some of these may choose the Event Planning Minor rather than the Tourism Management Minor.
*Support for RT is expected to remain strong and international cohorts are anticipated
*The only impact foreseen on other programs is a positive one in that it provides a complement for majors requiring a minor or a major with lower credits
*Event Planning would be a particularly beneficial supplement for Global Wine Studies majors as GWS career paths such as tasting room manager involve event planning

Required Summary Page
For All Proposed Majors, Minors, Specializations, and Certificates
This form must accompany your proposal.
If it is not complete, the proposal and summary page will be returned to the originator.

1. Provide a justification for the creation of this program. (How will this program enhance the curriculum of your department or college and the university? What specific need(s) is (are) being addressed that is (are) not being met in other programs?) Additional pages may be used.

This Master of Music cognate program has been a valuable addition to the master's program in music as it allows for recognition of study in a secondary concentration chosen by the student. This is especially true for Teaching Assistant master's students as the allowed credit load per quarter (stipulated by the COB) almost always means they are in residence for two years and need additional credits to fill out a program. There have been frequent requests in the last few years from master's students to pursue a cognate in jazz that would allow for enhancement of teaching skills coupled with study of jazz literature through performance and instructional methods. While it is possible to take all courses listed in the Jazz Pedagogy cognate in one's program, it has not been possible to show this on the student Course of Study as a concentration. The creation of this particular cognate will allow for master's students in music to declare this secondary concentration and ultimately should increase master's student enrollments as this is something that will attract future students to the program.

2. Attach a clean copy of the catalog narrative and program requirements.

3. Please indicate how this new program will impact existing programs in your department or college and the university. (Is this program replacing a deleted program or is it adding to your program offerings? If it is an additional program, how will the program be staffed? How many students do you expect to enroll in the new program over the next 5 years? How will FTEs be affected in existing programs? Is there long-term support for the program in terms of staffing and funding? Will the program impact enrollments in other departments or colleges, etc.) Additional pages may be used.

The Jazz Pedagogy cognate is something that has been requested many times by past graduate students, usually Teaching Assistants who see themselves teaching in either K-12 or college environments after CWWI and want to concentrate on improving their skills in the jazz genre. The creation of this cognate will enhance the marketability of the master's program in music and over time may attract even more students. Based on past interest, we project approximately two master's students per year will list the Jazz Pedagogy cognate on their Course of Study. The impact on FTE will be minimal, but in terms of growth and contraction, as many as half of the concentration already take the prescribed courses (and others) in the jazz area. Instituting this program will allow students to finally show this secondary concentration in their program. Because of the negligible effect on present FTE, there will be no impact of staffing and funding of this program on the music budget.
