Family & Consumer Sciences changes – J. Bowers spoke to the committee concerning the graduate program changes. She explained that the reason quite a few of the courses (new and existing) were cross-listed was so that students could show their area of study on a transcript. Most of the Administrative portion of the program is on-line and is shared with several different colleges in the pacific northwest.

The FSCC questioned a 512 course which was listed as an elective. The committee felt it was really a required but remedial course and should not have been given 4 credits. J. Bowers will send the syllabus for the course.

The College of business had a concern over the name of 581 “Finance” and requested a name change for the course. “Program Resource Management” was agreed by both the department and college.
