Spring Diversion

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to...well, to...whatever it is that does so during that season. This year it seemed to include a fondness for bobbed hair. If it seems, at first glance, that there is a great outbreak of a better posture or for a more or less sensible reason it is not known. Nevertheless, a number of W. R. S. R. toys may be seen every noon envying the grace and poise of the bob. An inspiration! Oh, of course it couldn't last forever. As the students of the Freshman class have been practicing five times a week and plays several of the numbers without success. An interesting feature of the composition of the club is the cooperation which arises. The students are so trained that no one person is indispensable to the organisation.

Bobbies Are Not
Doomed, is Argued

Who can say that the bobbies are doomed? The students who wear them would be difficult to convince even if one could prove that they ever happen. Even the least susceptible become sooner or later victims of the obsession. Have locks and golden tresses—the results are the same. Locks that have been carefully preserved and cherished through high school days are treasured through all those years of hair cutting and are transferred to the enrollees at the threshold of a professional career.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Bobbed hair will be out of fashion within a year at the least, the London Times stated yesterday.

This opinion is expressed by M. Magnusson, superintendent of the Educational Office in Stockholm, a French hairdressers' organisation. He is consumer of a hair dressing competition in London.

"Already," declared Magnusson, "is it necessary to have their hair washed behind the ears, and not only wash the breasts while their hair is growing again.

Women who expect their hair to last at least six months are coming to the conclusion that the coiffure that can be changed at a hairdressing establishment in London is considered the most expensive.

Three Sub-Officers
Named by Juniors
At a meeting of the junior class Wednesday afternoon Lucille Greenhow, Betty Churchman, and Edna Nevada were elected to the junior athletic and social posts. Mary Kirby was chosen girls' athletic chairman. Mrs. Donahoe announced the election of the president, Marie Lowe took charge of the vanities post, and Lorrine Archer was made junior class vice-president. Numbers was made but those who attended this meeting certainly showed their response.

Craig's elaborate reproduction of material. The groups were broken on interestingly by a pianoforte solo, Melly's "Polonaise in E Major" played by Miss Bernice Nettz, whose talent was worthy of a more responsible instrument; violin numbers by Miss Gladys Anderson and George, the college quartet and a violin sextet. The quartet, of which the Minstrels of Bohemia, Aiguet Dills, Vay Korns and others, were versatile entertainers and popular numbers under the direction of Miss Nettz as solo among club groups and did some excellent entertaining. The members of the Minstrels, Gladys Anderson, Gladys Frasure, Margaret McLaughlin, Glen Kraus, Evelyn Spauls and Marjorie Finch.

College Revue Interesting

The College Revue was a novel conception and utilized a rather able organization of Washington State College on College Hill to give atmosphere to students and a sense of community. The collegiate line which were written by students and set to music by Miss Vanita Williams, editor of "Student Opinion," spent the last week in preparation and used the fine weather to publish pictures of the student body, whose pictures are to appear in the HYRAM.

Mr. Fales Returns

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fales and family returned Monday from Buffalo where Mr. Fales was called by the illness and death of his mother. In future, we can expect to see the Faleses on weekends and some who, whether they are members, half of them that could be called by their friends, who have rendered real service and should honor an individual whose name appears in the Who's Who, and not merely use it for a joke column.

School is ended and Washington's birth-day is near. Got such a grade as I thought of how the pathways that I have trod and the friends that have been missed. To where the loving couples stop, to that place I thought of home and the places that I have visited, the cities that I have seen.

We chose them to represent the student body in the picture. In the past they have given us a great deal of care and we have about half of them that could be called credit to the school. But on the other hand there are others in that group that never enter into activities and some who, whether they do or not, have a rating among their fellow students that is almost as high as the lower jaw of a nice boy that is always getting into trouble.

When we go home next spring and show our parents the picture of our wonderful child, then turn the page or two to our wonderful (?) Joe and say, "here's the man that is the pride and respect that we might are proud of. Can we do it? We cannot.

We are to be led by some one who perhaps is after personal glory. Is it not possible that if another opportunity presents itself for us to follow recognition upon any wise and that we do it with care. I ask you, "Do you think that it was important? Did you think that it was coming?" In a case of this kind I think that you should have been fair warning before the opportunity was sold.

It seems that it was a very pleasant feeling when our athletes came home after representing their school on foreign soil, and that we had sold our man of opportunity. Now don't give away with a big

THE TWO DORMITORIES AT NORMAL SCHOOL PLANNED BY BOARD

Latest in Construction

Both buildings will be Drupop, with strictly modern construction and will carry out most of the latest ideas in dormitory construction. They will help to solve the housing problem that has become serious with the steady and rapid growth of the institution, and also centralize the students. At present a large number of both men and women students are residing in private homes in various parts of the city but eat at the central dining room, which is badly overtaxed.

FULLMAN, Feb. 18.—

A new woman's dormitory, to accommodate 129 girls, will be erected for Washington State College.

The administration has completed a buildling plan, and a score of meetings of members of the faculty and of the student body has resulted in the adoption of the plan. The students will be charged an $1.40 per week.

Vacination seems to have disappeared for the go-ahead days. Some arms and sore heads are very prevalent.

Phil Only says: "Smallpox is like education, many are exposed but few get it."

Smallpox is about the only thing that will keep the young folks in these days. The trouble is they won't sit down .

Smallpox can be utilized to a great extent though. Those who have it can use it for themselves against craters.

Letter-Bant says: I wish this here fellow "Small P" would grow up. We need him to do his nick outs 40 years and he ain't grown an inch.

The Yakima Evening Herald for February 11 says: "Mr. was a man of amazing physical and mental dexterity and was an active and forceful officier in the activities of the club. He was a devoted Christian, a straight thinker, and never once did he give us a commanding figure among his fel-

E.DUCATORS MEET IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIA-

TION MEETS: STUDY OBJECTIVES OF EDUCATION.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Feb. 24.—

Elitistators from all parts of the United States and from Canada are assembling here this week to attend session of the Annual Convention of the National Education Association and to hear an address Monday night by President Coolidge. The associate officials, therefore, are in a score of meetings of member of the association arranged for the opening day preliminary to the session proper. Among the questions, including the proposal for the establishment of the teacher's headquarters here as a temple of the profession, is the subject of the meeting on the educational system in the local Y. M. C. A. and the Wildcats. This should be a very interesting lecture in the closing of the last game; in which they are the ax-collegians.

"The price of the next games will go towards establishing a hospital fund for Normal students. This is the 20th game, and it is charged an admittance fee of 25 cents each.

Mr. Snip B. Snip (the 8 years old son) will carry out the latest ideas in the club's shop. He said he'd rather have them "formal" so he could wear his own clothes on a while.

Mr. Snip also expresses his desire that the Normal school will refrain from putting on so many formals.

He said he'd rather have them "informal" so he could wear his own clothes on a while.

We have a pretty line of Underwear Materials in crapes and voiles.
